Austria Broke; Government to Shut Up Shop

Utilities Body Repeal 8c Order.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Austrian government has announced to the entente that it is at the end of its resources and no longer is in a position to continue, according to a report which has reached official German quarters, says a London Times dispatch from Berlin.

The government has declared its intention to retire Jan. 15 and place the administration of the country in the hands of the reparations commission, the dispatch adds.

Threaten to Hang Profiters.

VIENNA, Jan. 10.—Threats to hang profiteers on lamp posts were made by members of several unions at a conference with Chancellor Mayr today. The conference had been called by the chancellor to devise means of checking the rising prices of commodities.

Notice was served upon the government that unless it was able to show before the end of the present month that measures had been taken which would suppress profiteering, the members of these organizations would "take the law in their own hands, and hang the guilty on lamp posts."

Communist Plot Killed.

Details of the recently frustrated plot to establish in Yugoslavia a soviet government along the lines of the Moscow administration, were received here today. A newspaper strike in south Yugoslavia prevented the details from reaching here sooner.

According to Minister of the Interior Drachovitch, the Communists planned to murder former Premier Venkitch, Gen. Branko Jovanovitch, the war minister, and M. Drachovitch, imprison the prince regent, and proclaim a proletarian dictatorship. Many men who had made large profits from the sale of necessities of life at exorbitant prices were found on the side of the Communists. The government ordered the expulsion of all foreigners found implicated in the plot. Several hundred arrested Communists have been imprisoned.

Points to Cost of Rice.

The city administration claims that the 5 cent fare is feasible and practicable. Chicago, Ald. Captain told his colleagues that the wage and power of the surface lines now cost more than 5 cents a ride.

Proposes Amendment to Law.

Over that which Ald. Toman said to the committee that the city shall ask "the mayor, the governor, and the legislature to amend the law" that the public utilities commission may grant a 5 cent fare if it is authorized to do so under the present act. The committee adjourned the motion. Toman said that he probably present it again at the meeting tomorrow.

Devotion to His Hogs.

Neighbors of Sah Rudeh, a Rockford, Ill., farmer, learned yesterday why he spent so much time caring for his hogs. County authorities raided his farm and seized a still and fifty gallons of mash concealed in the hogs. Examination revealed that none of the pigs was blind.

Leads to Pigeon Still.

Cleveland Takes Issue.

Cleveland asserted that the mayor's plan will give rapid transit, but declined to indicate what was under consideration in that line.

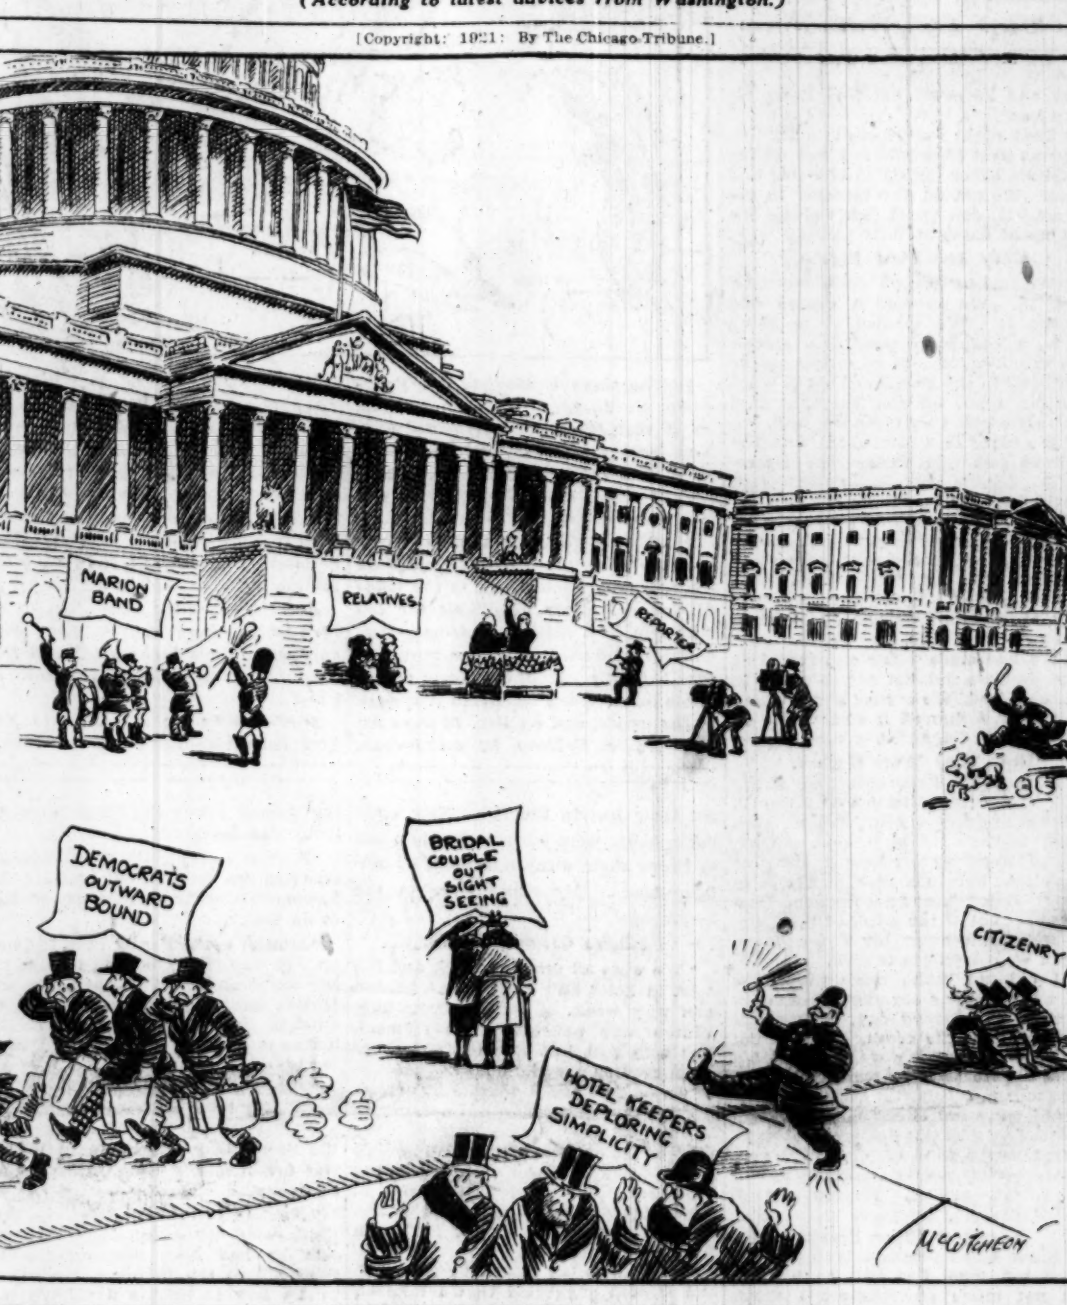

You are wasting your time in attempting to get Mayor Thompson or his commission committed to any plan, and any plans or maps published purporting to give the plan are unauthorized," said Cleveland.

The committee decided to call in various civic, industrial, and commercial organizations. Their views are sought. At the same time the committee, by a vote of 5 to 5, declined to hire an engineer and attorney to advise the commission.

No Action by Utilities Body.

Telegram from Springfield last night stated that there would be no change in the present policy of the utilities commission until after April 1 at the earliest. A new commission will be appointed next week, but nothing will be attempted by Gov. Small until after the mayor's plan has had a chance in the house.

G. K. CHESTERTON BRINGS A NEW "TIGER" STORY

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Before leaving today for Boston to deliver his first lecture in America, Gilbert K. Chesterton, English essayist, was asked by a reporter what the English people were saying about the league of nations.

"They are not talking about it at all," Mr. Chesterton said. "The best story I heard in regard to the league was connected with Clemenceau when he was premier."

The great French statesman felt that he needed bracing up every morning during the peace conference, and before starting for a full length mirror and gaze at his image.

"Then he would say to himself, 'George Clemenceau, you do believe in the league of nations.'"

"Then he would go forth refreshed to meet President Wilson and the other members of the conference."

Suffering from Breakdown, Man Vanishes from Train

William Goodyear, father of Mrs. Edward O'Neill of 24 Scott street, disappeared yesterday while en route to Waukegan in care of Mrs. O'Neill. They were on a Chicago & Northwestern local train. He was suffering from a nervous breakdown. Mrs. O'Neill said he went to the smoking compartment somewhere between Evanston and Lake Forest and did not return.

Wants the People to Decide.

"On the other hand, money spent for free books will result in a serious drain on school funds the first year and must be made up in some way by the public. It seems to me that it is only fair for Chicago voters to decide the question."

Chicago's public education system has been taken as a model for the new schools of Czechoslovakia, according to J. J. Zimral, principal of the Herzl elementary school, who yesterday was appointed educational advisor for the new republic.

Clemenceau Kills Two Tigers as Maharaja's Guest

GAWLIOR, Central India, Jan. 11.—The former French premier, Georges Clemenceau, guest of the Maharaja of Sindia, has bagged two full grown tigers. Mr. Clemenceau left Paris last September.

Twenty Agents Sent Here to Make Inquiry

Local Official Admits Charges' Truth.

Twenty special investigators from the offices of Commissioner Williams in Washington left for Chicago last night to conduct an investigation of charges of graft in the local prohibition offices.

Every effort was made to keep secret the expedition, which is entrusted with making the most sweeping inquiry in the history of the dry headquarters.

That irregularities exist in his office was admitted last night by Ralph W. Stone, Illinois prohibition director, when he started an independent investigation of graft by asking for warrants for four Chicago physicians.

He charges the doctors with willfully violating their prescription privileges. Admits Charges' Truth.

"I know that graft exists in my office," Mr. Stone said when told the government men were on their way here. "I welcome any investigation that may be made. For several weeks one or more men in my office have systematically attempted to push through several illegal permits."

"They were successful in pushing through four permits which previously had been turned down. In each case the permit was for the removal of a small amount of liquor, and the permit of a wholesale liquor dealer whose right to purchase liquor had been revoked was used."

How Trick Was Worked.

From other sources it was learned that irregularities have been traced to Mr. Stone's private office, where agents in the pay of the wetts placed illegal permits on his desk for signature. The method used was as follows:

Dealers whose names appeared on the "black list" approached clerks in the prohibition office. Their next step was to apply for a permit which they felt certain would be disapproved. This permit blank was placed in the pile ready for the inspection of the officer charged with checking up each permit against the names of blacklisted dealers and men whose warehouses or saloons had been closed.

Usually the permit was caught and tossed out. It was quickly picked up again and placed in the pile of approved permits placed on Mr. Stone's desk for his signature. With the director's official O. K. the permit was ready for use.

Stopped by Double Check.

The double check kept on all permits resulted in the stopping of most of the illegal forms at the onset.

In one instance mentioned by Mr. Stone, Daniel Collins, a blacklisted wholesale liquor dealer, obtained five cases of whiskey on a permit which had at first been disapproved and later signed by Mr. Stone when it had been inserted among a number of good permits waiting for his final signature.

Just how many men in Mr. Stone's office are implicated is not known. It is expected that the investigation will reveal not only the guilty government officials, but lead to the heart of the Chicago traffic in illegal withdrawal forms. It is possible that other leaks in Mr. Stone's office may be uncovered.

Richardson Expects Shakeup.

Frank D. Richardson, supervising prohibition agent of the central district, could not be reached last night, but he admitted last Monday that he expected another shakeup in his office. Recently he discharged six agents in Indiana and entered orders for the transfer of practically every agent employed there.

Mr. Stone's estimate is that 75 per cent of all liquor prescribed by doctors is used for beverage purposes.

Warrant for Murdoch.

One of the physicians named in the warrants asked yesterday was E. P. Murdoch, president of the recently organized American Protective Medical Fraternity.

The warrant charges that he and Dr. Eldorado Scott, a physician who has been especially prominent in his efforts to force Mr. Stone to let down the bars, issued scores of prescriptions bearing fictitious names of patients.

Issuance of emergency prescriptions allowing the holder to procure one pint of whiskey at drug stores was responsible for the warrants for Dr. T. J. Parker of 848 East Sixty-fourth street and Dr. J. W. Koehn of 214 East Forty-sixth street.

FARRELL HITS HINTON; DENIES HE WAS 'ALL IN'

Quarrel Mars Close of Adventure.

Complete story of the adventures of the naval balloonists, as related by Lieut. Farrell, will be found on page 2.

BY JAMES WHITTAKER.

Mattice, Ont., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Lieuts. Hinton, Kloor, and Farrell, the United States navy balloonists, have come out and have fought brutally with their fists in the small wood shack that should have been their place of roosting, but which was the scene of a start of a feud that will probably end only with the lives of all three.

The fight came to Farrell, who was in the hut of B. P. Williamson, clerk of the Hudson's Bay company, talking to newspaper men. Hinton and Kloor had gone to the railway station to get to a telegraph wire, and there had found messages from Secretary Daniels advising them not to speak for publication until they had filed an official report.

Missing Farrell, Hinton came back to Williamson's hut to get him. Meanwhile, Farrell had been told all that had occurred to make this a story of shame rather than triumph.

Told of Hinton's Letter.

He was told of the letter from Hinton to his wife in Long Island, in which Hinton said that Farrell had collapsed and had offered his body to be eaten by his comrades. He had been told of the publication of a report that a naval inquiry was afoot and that he would be offered a chance to clear his honor, and Farrell is a red faced, hard jawed Irishman.

As he heard the news little veins awoke on his forehead and neck, telling of the fearful anger within. Then Hinton came in, pale, harried, and agitated. Hinton faced Farrell across a double file of news men, caught his eye, and said: "Look here, Steve, we have messages from Secretary Daniels telling us not to talk."

Farrell's answer to that, excepting vigorous blasphemy, was: "You damned little rat. You've been talking some yourself."

Hinton's Explanations Futile.

The crossfire of words became pure abuse. Farrell rose to advance on Hinton, whose manner was apologetic and shrinking. Farrell was physically deterred by the news men, who saw clearly what was coming.

Explanations, futile and extended, began. Hinton at first denied that he had written a letter which reflected on Farrell's character. But the news men reproduced telegraphic excerpts from the letter and read them.

Then Hinton wilted and admitted he had written "a bit exaggerated," he characterized his letter. Then he pleaded with Farrell: "Look here, Steve, this is a rotten thing. We don't want this to happen. You know that we are good pals."

It was like oil on a fire. Farrell belittled in rage at Hinton's excuses. An interruption from the kitchen of the shack where Williamson's mother was preparing tea to say: "None of that language in this house. My mother hears every word of it."

The Unavoidable Fight.

Farrell had still enough control to apologize and subside. Mrs. Williamson called him to tea. He passed Hinton with his hands tightly clinched in his pockets and with an ugly glare in his eyes. "Don't get your Irish up," said Hinton.

Then the thing happened. It could not have been avoided. It was fated. Hinton followed Farrell out to reason with him and urge him not to talk to news men. This Farrell wished to do on the ground that he had been publicly ridiculed and must now be publicly exonerated. The men nearest each other. "You rat!" suddenly burst out Farrell, and brought up his fist. He swung his right fist into the point of Hinton's jaw. The crash of the blow could be heard in the silence of the room. Hinton covered his head with both hands and shrank away.

Stopped by Onlookers.

Farrell started a swing from his left fist. Arthur Stevens, head of the Cochrane board of trade, was nearest the fighters and threw himself between them.

Others held Farrell. Then, by an instinct that was unanimous, onlookers and members of the small household walked out of the doors, taking with them, and left Farrell to his thoughts, whatever they may be. Farrell had given a very complete

FASTING WOMAN'S HUSBAND BEATS UP MOVIE MAN

Resents Attempt to Take Pictures.

Although she has been fasting for forty-four days, Mrs. Sule Harrington of Danville, Ill., is still fast on her feet—but not quite as fast as her husband, Ernest, is with his fists.

Harry Birch, a movie camera man for a news weekly, attacked both facts last night.

"They were successful in pushing through four permits which previously had been turned down. In each case the permit was for the removal of a small amount of liquor, and the permit of a wholesale liquor dealer whose right to purchase liquor had been revoked was used."

From other sources it was learned that irregularities have been traced to Mr. Stone's private office, where agents in the pay of the wetts placed illegal permits on his desk for signature. The method used was as follows:

Dealers whose names appeared on the "black list" approached clerks in the prohibition office. Their next step was to apply for a permit which they felt certain would be disapproved. This permit blank was placed in the pile ready for the inspection of the officer charged with checking up each permit against the names of blacklisted dealers and men whose warehouses or saloons had been closed.

Usually the permit was caught and tossed out. It was quickly picked up again and placed in the pile of approved permits placed on Mr. Stone's desk for his signature. With the director's official O. K. the permit was ready for use.

Tells of Experience.

Birch told how he had been sent down to Danville by his weekly to obtain a picture of Mrs. Harrington, who claims to have lost only five pounds at the end of the forty-fourth day of the "fast imposed" fast.

"I went down to Harrington's place of business first," said Birch. "I asked him if I might take the picture. He said: 'Well, if you can you're a better fellow than the others who have been down here and there have been an awful lot of 'em.'"

"I took that to mean that it would be all right with him if I could get Mrs. Harrington's permission, so I drove up to the house. I left my camera in the car, packed in the case. I told the nurse Mr. Harrington had said it would be all right if Mrs. Harrington didn't object. The nurse told me to wait until she called up Mr. Harrington on the phone. He told her that I should wait until he arrived."

Invited to Woodshed.

"Harrington came along and went in the house and took off his overcoat and gloves. Then he came out and asked me to step back into the woodshed. I was wearing a heavy leather coat, big fur gauntlets, and my glasses. Without a word he struck me in the eye and knocked me down. I staggered to my feet, took off my glasses, and attempted to battle with him, but my overcoat was too big a handicap. He broke my nose. The funny part of it was that he struck me in the mouth a dozen times and never feased a bridge which a dentist put in for me recently. The bridge stood the traffic, but two good teeth were loosened."

"In

account of the adventures of the three navy men before Hinton's arrival in the hut. The story of their arrival can wait on the telling of that tale.

He prefaced his story with a direct answer to one question which was put to him: "Did you at any time offer to commit suicide or let your comrades cut your throat that they might eat your body?"

He said: "No, there is absolutely nothing to it. The story is ridiculous. Why, I could have licked those two boys any time during the whole trip, and I can lick them both now in this room."

"I walked nearly all the way down from Moose Factory—200 miles. They said most of the way. While we were lost, Hinton was the weakest and Kloor was just a kid. They are both silly kids."

"Double Crossed" on Letter.

Reflecting on the writing of the Hinton letter, Farrell said:

"I am surprised Hinton did it. He must have done it under a strain. Hinton double crossed the party. When we were up at Moose Factory he and Kloor arranged to write a story of the trip to sell. They left me out, but asked me to put at the bottom of the letter I sent. 'Please don't publish.'"

They explained that the printing of the letter might kill the sale of the story. Hinton had a lot of experience with selling stuff when he was on the NC 4 in the trans-Atlantic flights last July.

"I wrote Frank Bent, my friend in New York. He is commissioner of contracts in New York. The reason my letter was not published is that Bent is a real pal. I showed my letter to Hinton. He did not show him to me."

Hinton, however, sticks to the tale sent in the letter. "If the whole truth were known," he said, "it would be proved that I was not so far off."

"Just before the flight Farrell had asked Hinton to make denial of all that he had written, but this Hinton refused to do."

He said: "No, Steve, I can't do that. I believe it is true."

Kloor, on the other hand, when asked the same question, said: "No such thing happened. If it had happened I should not say a word about it. But you can put it down that it didn't happen."

Handed Letter from Wife.

As Farrell came up the steep bluff of the Missinabi river on which Mattice stands at 2:15 p. m. and thus ended his 200 mile trek back to civilization he was met by a Canadian Coast Guard cutter, who handed him a letter from his wife.

Standing in the torn clothes he wore and forgetting the horrors of photographers who besieged him with requests for one more pose and his face wreathed in smiles, he read this:

"1781 Woodbine street, Brooklyn, Jan. 2, 1921—My Dear Steve: The New York Daily News and The Chicago Tribune wish to hand you a greeting from me. Glad to hear of your last night through the naval station. Although the papers had given up hope of ever hearing from the balloon trip, I have never felt but that you had been beyond communications. Eugene and Emily send their love to you. With love and best wishes that I see you soon, I remain, sincerely yours."

"ANNA."

Looking up at the finish, Farrell said: "The Champ's great girl."

He calls his wife "Champ" and pretends a great worry that he will be greatly scolded when he gets home.

"The best little girl, best little old family in the world" is his opinion of Eugene and Emily.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The following story of the balloon trip of the three navy men was given out by Lieut. Stephen Farrell this tonight.

Lieut. Farrell's story of the flight and wanderings of the three men in the morning hours in Rockaway naval air station on Dec. 12 and goes on through the flight, the landing, and up to the meeting with the Indian at Moose Factory who saved their lives.

"It was just an ordinary balloon hop," Farrell began. "It was for training. Hinton told me after we left that the gas in the balloon was ten days old, stale and impure."

"Hinton called me up at about twenty minutes to 12 (Dec. 12) and told me I could come on flight if I wanted to. No special orders are needed. We just got permission from Commander Cummings of the post and Executive Officer Douglas."

"I am senior officer of the three, but Kloor was in command of the flight, as he is a balloon officer and I am a gunnery officer. I have been in aviation for three years and have flown in every kind of aircraft. We left at 1 p. m."

"I had four pigeons; we let the first one go with a message for the Brooklyn navy yard."

"Hinton and Kloor had heavy underwear and uniforms under their flying suits. I had only the underwear and the flying suit. I had a grip with my uniform and some other things in it. We had eight sandwiches and two thermos bottles of hot coffee. None of the underwear was electrically heated."

"We expected to land next morning in upper New York state. We had no maps or charts except a rough map of the Canadian Quebec Central line, which I bought. We had three chances to land before we did. We did stop once at Wells, N. Y."

"We made fast to a tree near a light. It was in a window of a farmhouse. A man came along and we asked him where we were. He told us but he could not say what big town we were near."

Kloor Game to Go On.

"We cast loose and went up again. It rained and blew during the night. We could have landed at Ottawa at 11 p. m. We saw the lights of a big city. But Kloor is just a kid and he was enthusiastic about a long flight. We all agreed that we ought to do a decent flight. There had been rain from Wells on."

"The wind was north by west. That night it blew hard and rained. There was no sign of civilization. But we thought it would be all right in the morning. At daylight we saw only forests. The rain had calmed down. There were low clouds and fog."

"The rain stopped at 9 a. m. [Dec. 13]. We ate all our food during the night. We had two packages of cigarettes and one box of matches, but you cannot smoke in a hydrogen balloon. We realized we were in bad that morning."

Explains Flying Technique.

Here Farrell paused to give a brief explanation of the technique of balloon flying.

"You have a lot of expendable ballast," he said. "We had twenty-one sandbags weighing thirty pounds apiece. At first the balloon rises with all the cargo. Then it begins coming down as the gas deteriorates. When you are down too low you throw out a sandbag and that sends you up again. When the ballast is gone you go up for the last time and have to come down as soon as the gas begins to weaken."

"Our twenty-first bag went over that morning. After that we had to throw out equipment to keep up. We hauled in the drag rope which is used in making landings and cut it into several pieces. We used each piece as ballast. It was not very long before the last piece went over the side."

Kept Instruments Only.

"We had a compass, an altimeter for reading our height, and a fine static scope which tells whether you are going up or down. We didn't throw away any of the instruments. But we threw out the carpet and the seats and the thermos bottles, and then began to tear chunks of lining out of the baskets and throwing them. My grip was next, but we made our landing before it went. At 11 a. m. the sun came out and heated up the gas in the balloon; that makes the gas expand and sends the balloon up."

"We were fighting to keep in the air. All we saw was trees, lakes, and snow. It was about 130 p. m. that we saw a shack in the woods. At least we thought it was a shack. We were in doubt about this until we heard a dog bark."

"I took bearings with the compass on the shack and the place where the dog barked. We decided to land. We were in low clouds about 1,000 feet high. The wind was north by west, the sun had been heating up our bag, and we began to go up. We reached 6,500 feet. It takes a long time to go down from that height."

Make a Bad Landing.

"The clouds were below us and above us. We got down about 2 o'clock. It was a bad landing and we were pretty badly shaken up. We were hurt or thrown out, but the basket was smashed against the ground."

"The balloon caught between the trees. We had taken the pigeons into the basket to protect them from the landing. Usually they ride in a cage tied outside of the basket. The weather was clear and nearly freezing."

"It was Hinton's first flight. The balloon jumped about ten or twenty feet once or twice. Hinton called that 'porpoising.'"

"All three of us stepped out of the basket in our flying clothes. I took the grip. We were speaking wet. Kloor took the pigeon cage. We started off at a terrific pace to get where the dog barked. We did not stop to inspect the balloon. From the bearings I took in the balloon we figured the dog to be south by east from us."

Start on Long Trek.

"We started through the forest on that line. I carried my grip for one day. We went on until dark and made a fire. I smoked two cigarettes while we rested; so did Kloor. Hinton did not smoke."

"We did not eat that day; we carried the pigeons until the next day. There was some snow on the ground, so we got a lot of pine brush to lie on and I picked a lot of rotten wood with my penknife. We had no fire; arms—only the knife and the box of matches."

"Hinton went on a little to find a stream. While he was gone he laid off his flying suit to make better headway and he could not find it on his way back."

"That night I slept next to Hinton. He was next to the fire. I was on the outside. Kloor lay off to one side and slept. We got on fine together in the forest. Hinton and I didn't sleep. We got up at daylight."

They Eat First Pigeon.

"We ate a pigeon that morning, Dec. 15. We cleaned a pigeon and cooked it. We divided it in three parts, a couple of mouthfuls apiece. We drank water out of moss tracks and holes in the ground. That is what we were eating. That is what we were drinking. We were not frozen over, so we had to follow the bank. We camped again in good shape. I, for one, was not very hungry, but we were cold when we stopped walking."

"We had made a fire and rested at noon, but we did not eat in order to conserve food. We argued about where we were. I figured it somewhere in the woods in Canada, but wasn't sure."

How They Were Garbed.

"At that time I was still in my flying suit, Hinton in uniform and Kloor in uniform and flying suit. We all wore flying boots. My grip kept getting full of trees, so I threw it away at 10 o'clock, but took care to put it in a tree. Before that I got my good English shoes out of the grip and put them on and threw away my flying boots, which were pretty near gone."

"I did not make more than four miles the first day nor more than seven or eight the second day. Our night camp was on the creek. We did not eat. During the day we all got good English shoes out of the grip and put them on and threw away my flying boots, which were pretty near gone."

"We were not cheerful. We began to dread so that this dog barking position was a kind of phony. There were some noises. I figure now it was a wolf barking. We saw a lot of wolf tracks."

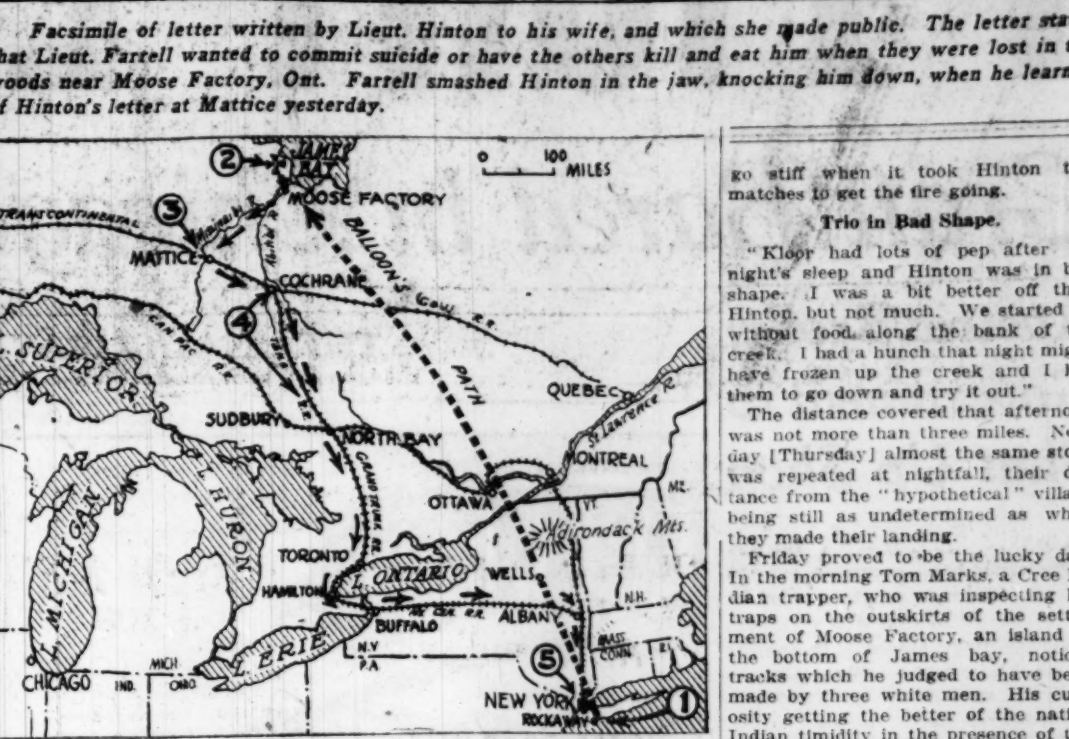

Youngest Flyer Prays.

"Kloor told us he had been praying—not out loud, but just to himself. I'm not much on religion; I didn't pray. No more than I made a proposition they should dine off me."

"Hinton and I discussed our course while Kloor was praying. We had to make sure we were in a pretty good jam and felt pretty blue. But when we quit we had a hunch that the third day was going to be lucky."

"We ate the second pigeon and killed the other one the morning of the third day—Dec. 16. Kloor put the dead pigeon in his pocket. We did this to do away with the cage."

"During the night Hinton and Kloor

1—The three balloonists left Rockaway, N. Y., about noon on Dec. 12. As it rose it drifted northward over New York state, passing over Wells, N. Y., and the Adirondacks. A storm caught them, night came down, and they were driven far to the north.

2—After drifting all night and the next morning, the three descended on the shores of James Bay, in the wilds of Canada. They had made the 800 mile trip in a little over twenty-four hours, and during this time they had seen but little, except the storm clouds below them. They wandered four days in the woods, and on Dec. 18 were led into Moose Factory by an Indian.

3—On Jan. 11, the three, with their guides, reached Mattice, on the transcontinental railroad. They had come 800 miles through woods and snow. This trip ordinarily takes eleven days or more. They were lost to the world for twenty-nine days in all.

4—From Mattice they plan to return to New York by rail. They probably will go via Cochrane, North Bay, Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, and Albany.

5—The time from Mattice to New York is estimated at about two days.

got their feet in the fire. Now their flying shoes were burned and they had to throw them away and walk in uniform boots. My shoes were in the best shape."

Hikers Growing Weak.

"We were all growing weak and fell a lot in holes and over trees. Hinton was very bad. I felt like vomiting. Hinton was nauseated, his stomach was very bad, but our heads were as clear as they are right now."

"If we had had a definite object we could have gone fifty or a hundred miles without so much distress. We saw so much of the same sort of woods that it appeared we were not going anywhere. But we were not going in circles because we were steered by the compass zigzagging through the wood. That counted against us."

"I began to lag behind pretty much and Hinton suggested that I take off my flying suit. I did, and walked in my underclothing the rest of the trip. Hinton wrapped my suit around him as a sort of blanket. Just before noon I had a nasty fall over a tree trunk into a hole three feet deep. I was bruised and scratched but I got up alone."

Hunch Fails to Help Out.

"We didn't eat at noon and made fire and warmed up and started off again all together. We were pretty blue when we camped the third night."

LIEUT. FARRELL WAS BOXING CHAMPION OF THE PACIFIC FLEET

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Stephen Farrell, wife of one of the navy balloonists, was happy, and worried by the fight between her husband and Lieut. Hinton.

Speaking of the Hinton letters, he said:

"If the families of the others like making their letters public, so was their business. I wouldn't do it. What I think of my husband's story makes no difference to any one. He who is concerned, and not I, hundreds of miles away."

Lieut. Farrell has a large number of friends at the Rockaway air station. Few of them were surprised at the action of Farrell in taking Hinton's task so quickly for sentence in a letter.

"I feel fine," said one of the men, "you know that Farrell was the weight champion of the Pacific fleet for years."

warning of the party's approach, moment later Kloor's sled came in the snow. He was bundled to the top in the garb of the country—moccasins, wool cap and mittens—no one recognized him until he slid stiffly from his sled and introduced himself.

"I feel fine. We're all right. I ask it that I get to a fire," he said.

Kloor's Official Report.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The navy department today received from Lieut. Kloor, commander of the navy balloonists, the following dispatch:

"Secretary, navy department, Washington, D. C.: Report free balloon 3588, flown under my command, by Lieut. Stephen Farrell, Lieut. Louis Kloor, and Lieut. Walter Hinton, from naval air station, Rockaway, Dec. 12. Encountered storm forced down flight. Aboard (garbed) storm area, landing impossible for side crew. Forced land Dec. 14, in forest approximately twenty miles north of Moose Factory, James Bay, Ontario, Canada. Reached Moose Factory early Dec. 17. Substituted and transferred this place Hudson Bay company. Proceed Jan. 12, naval air station Rockaway."

EASY CASH HOPES DIE WITH FRILLS OFF INAUGURAL

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Telling of the request of President-elect Harding, plans for an elaborate inauguration ceremony were abandoned here today.

There will be no official inauguration parade, no revival of the inaugural march, no big public ceremony on the front of the capitol where for years throngs of visitors have assembled to see the incoming president take the oath and to hear his inaugural address.

Landlord, Merchants "Stung."

The joint congressional committee on inauguration turned a deaf ear to the pleas of disappointed Washington landlords and merchants. They declined to comply with the letter which Mr. Harding's request for utmost simplicity in his induction ceremonies.

Only one will the big holiday features be eliminated but the oath of office will be administered to Mr. Harding in the senate chamber, where it can be witnessed by not more than 800 guests.

Immediately after the meeting of the congressional committee orders were given to tear down the grand stands erected on the capitol plaza. All contracts for work in connection with the original plans were cancelled. It was announced also that the usual engraved invitations and souvenirs would be eliminated. Invitation to the privileged few who can be accommodated in the senate chamber will be by card.

All Expense Eliminated.

The committee, consisting of Senators Knox, Nelson, and Overman, and Representatives Reavis, Cannon, and Tucker, sent the following telegram to Senator Harding tonight:

"The joint committee on inauguration have received your telegram transmitted through me as chairman dated Jan. 10, 1921, indicating your desire for utmost simplicity in the inaugural ceremonies on the fourth of next March and that the same shall be conducted practically without expense."

"The committee has considered your suggestion in the spirit in which it was made and has decided, subject to your approval, that the inaugural ceremonies shall take place in the senate chamber, which involves no disturbance of the arrangement in the incident to the inauguration of the vice president and involves no expense except such incidental expense for police as the circumstance will require."

"P. C. KNOX"

Problems Wake Up—Sadly.

When Washington awoke and read the morning newspapers telling of Senator Harding's request for abandonment of inaugural functions there was deep consternation.

Members of the citizens' committee dashed downtown and hurriedly called a meeting to discuss the situation.

Social guests and princesses threw the modeste and millinery establishments into panic by sudden cancellation of orders for gowns and headpieces for the inaugural ball.

Hotel proprietors asking $50 a day for bunks in rooms fronting on Pennsylvania avenue were in the throes of despair. Lumber dealers and grandstand builders were dazed at the unexpected blow and souvenir concessionaires were downcast.

A Mournful Meeting.

The meeting of the citizens' inauguration committee was a mournful affair. The very spirits were for ignoring Mr. Harding's request and one evening newspaper placed an edition on the news calling upon Washingtonians to stand go ahead with the inaugural ball.

The moderate majority, however, decided that Mr. Harding, the person inaugurated, should be respected as the commander-in-chief and that his wishes should be carried out. The report of the finance committee chairman showed that $115,000 had been received in subscriptions from citizens. This will be returned to the subscribers. Senator Harding's action was almost universally commended in congress. Those who had been demanding inaugural simplicity were particularly

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—President-elect Harding's request for a simple inauguration will be complied with. The parade and ball and the elaborate inaugural ceremony in front of the capitol have been abandoned, and he will take the oath in the senate chamber, where not more than 800 spectators can be accommodated. Washington merchants and hotel keepers are in deep gloom.

Acting Secretary of State Davis directed the secretary of labor today to report Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, because he entered the country without a passport. Secretary Wilson, it is reported, will appeal to the president.

Secretary Daniels, before the house naval committee today, opposed naval disarmament and urged completion of the 1916 three year battleship program with additions which will cost $231,000,000. Acting Secretary of State Davis said no disarmament overtures have come from other powers other than the invitation to join a disarmament commission by the league of nations.

Democratic senators from the south, aided by three western Republicans, won a victory today for the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant. Senator Kenyon said the proposition was fraught with graft, fraud, and corruption.

Urging a law to curb capital lobbying, Senator Kenyon said something had to be done to protect members of congress from swarms of "lobbyists."

A representative of the Cuban Liberal party asked Senator Johnson, chairman of the senate committee, to send a sub-committee to investigate conditions, which he described as chaotic, blaming President Menocal.

OUR MAYOR SEES HARDING; DID HE PAN DAWES?

Chicago Banker Still in Running, Belief.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

MARION, O., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago came down to Marion at the invitation of President-elect Harding for a conference, presumably over the question as to whether Charles G. Dawes should be formally offered the post of secretary of the treasury.

Mayor Thompson is understood to have made it clear to Mr. Harding that his political organization is unalterably opposed to the Chicago banker. The Thompson opposition goes back to the public utilities commission fight last spring when Mr. Dawes in a public letter attacked the city hall attitude.

While the argument of the Illinois political boss naturally receives consideration by Mr. Harding, the real opposition to Mr. Dawes lies deeper than this. It extends to an influential group in the United States senate with which Harding worked as a senator.

Dawes Too Close to Wilson?

The spokesman of that group has been in Marion recently with the argument that Mr. Dawes was too close to the Wilson administration and McAdoo, and that he was active in trying to get confirmation of John Skelton Williams as controller of the currency. This is an appointment which the Republicans have been fighting bitterly for two years.

Mr. Harding, however, is determined to appoint a Chicago man and the best information available is that Mr. Dawes' name is still on his tentative list.

Mayor Thompson was accompanied today by City Controller George F. Harding, said to be a distant relative of the president elect. He remained in Marion only a short time, taking the morning train back to Chicago. He admitted there had been discussion of cabinet matters, but said it was general.

Makes Cryptic Comment.

"At times in our controversies in Illinois," the mayor said, "we have perhaps been a little extreme; it may have seemed necessary to us to be so; but I think in view of our Republican majority of a half million it will be recognized that we do not allow these differences to go so far as to let the other fellow win."

Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university; Charles Barrett, president of the Farmers' union; Scott Bone, director of publicity during the campaign; and R. B. Creigher of Texas, who may be the next Mexican ambassador, were other callers today.

Lowden Appointments Killed.

The belief in Springfield is that this action "killed" all of the Lowden re-appointments and that of his colleagues Charles O. State Patronage in Muddle.

The state patronage is in a muddle. Many promises made during the speaker's term cannot be kept.

No floor leader of the administration in the house has been chosen. The former speaker, Shanahan, has declined the place. All Shanahan expects is a place on the appropriations committee, of which he was chairman for many years.

Gov. Small, after a conference with Fred Lundin and Frank L. Smith, denied that all Cook county patronage will be handled by Virtus Rohm, chairman of the city hall organization. This probably means the appointment of Eugene R. Pike as head of the Lincoln park board and of Christopher Wiehe as chairman of the west park board, so Mr. Rohm indicated today. The appointment of public administrator undoubtedly is to go to C. H. Snyder, closely related to City Controller George F. Harding.

Miller Circuit Judge.

Gov. Small's first official action today was to appoint Harry B. Miller of Chicago Circuit judge, to succeed George F. Barrett, whose resignation became effective this morning.

Arthur F. Inglish of Kankakee was appointed temporarily administrative auditor, to relieve Joseph C. Mason, who is anxious to retire. Werner E. Schroeder was named secretary of the legislative reference bureau.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The small administration today perfected arrangements which will send the governor's lieutenant to the state tax commission. Gen. Joseph B. Sanborn, formerly colonel of the 31st infantry and veteran of the world war, Percy B. Coffin, once a company commander in the I. N. G. under Gen. Sanborn, and now Mayor Thompson's voice on the city civil service commission, is slated as his successor.

Gen. Sanborn's term of office does not expire until 1924, under the appointment made by Gov. Lowden, but his resignation and that of his colleagues Charles O. ALLEN A. RYAN KEEPS CONTROL OF PROPERTIES

New York, Jan. 11.—Satisfactory settlement of the financial affairs of Allan A. Ryan and Allan A. Ryan & Co., with out liquidation, was announced here tonight by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Ryan interests.

Mr. Untermyer said the financier would retain control of his properties and continue to operate them as heretofore.

"The settlement arrived at does not affect Mr. Ryan's litigation against the stock exchange," he added, "which will be pressed with all possible energy."

"The settlement arrived at will not involve and renders unnecessary the liquidation of Mr. Ryan's extensive holdings."

Mr. Ryan takes this opportunity to deny the many baseless and foolish rumors circulated concerning his relations in banking circles, and to give public expression of his appreciation of the uniform justice and courtesy he has received.

The Guaranty Trust company and Alvin Untermyer have agreed to act as joint trustees under the agreement.

FORD, CALLED IGNORANT, MAY SUE DR. MENDOZA

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Because he was called an "ignorant machinist" and "a grossly ignorant megalomaniac" by the Rev. Lewis Mendoza, well known rabbi, in a public address, Henry Ford is threatening to sue for libel. He has instructed representatives here to send him copies of newspapers containing Dr. Mendoza's speech.

Dr. Mendoza, one of the best orators in the east, in his sermon Sunday night, refuted charges made against the Jews in a paper owned by Mr. Ford.

He declared Mr. Ford was too ignorant to write the article, but that his money and influence was behind the effort to create race hatred.

Dr. Mendoza, derisively referred to Mr. Ford's peace ship, and to the libel suit which Mr. Ford brought against THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

DISARMAMENT IS UP TO HARDING; WILSON PASSIVE

Will Not Call Powers,
Cabinet Men Say.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The government has not been approached by any foreign power on the question of limitation of armament, and President Wilson does not intend to call the powers into conference to decide on disarmament, acting under the authority of the naval law of 1916, according to testimony of Acting Secretary of State Davis and Secretary Daniels today before the house naval affairs committee.

The committee summoned them to learn, if possible, whether talk in England and Japan concerning limitation of naval armament was serious and whether it would be wise to proceed with the naval program. Nothing definite was advanced as to the intentions of these countries, although Mr. Daniels promised the committee to supply the facts as to the standing of the navies of these countries and the status of their building programs tomorrow.

All in or None.

Secretary Daniels said he was opposed to a naval holiday, but favored action under the Hensley provision of the 1916 naval law which would bring all nations into a conference to decide upon the limitation of naval armament. Until such an agreement is reached by all powers, he said, he strongly opposed cessation of work on the 1916 three year building program.

He advocated an increase in this program in the building of a number of cruisers and auxiliary ships, at an additional cost of $167,000,000. To complete this program would cost $221,000,000.

His Advice to Harding.

In concluding his testimony the secretary advised President-elect Harding to adopt some plan, if the league of nations were not ratified, to secure an agree on armament.

Acting Secretary Davis, who was expected to have definite information as to the views of Japan and Great Britain upon the question of disarmament, said he was unable to supply any official data on the subject.

Mr. Davis said that the foreign governments had not approached the United States government in any way on the question of disarmament or limitation of armament.

BROTHER FORCED TO VIEW KILLING OF SINN FEINER

Sister Is Injured Trying to Save Victim.

BELFAST, Jan. 11.—John Doran, a prominent young Sinn Feiner of Camlough, South Armagh, which has been the scene of recent attacks on the police, was taken from his bed in his father's house at midnight last night by seven armed men and shot to death. After a distressing scene in the house Doran was led to a spot near by, where his brother Michael was compelled to witness the execution. A sister was injured in trying to prevent her brother's removal.

DUBLIN, Jan. 11.—The military last night attacked an isolated house near Ballyhan, County Monaghan, which was said to be used as a camp for political fugitives. As the soldiers approached, the occupants scattered over the mountainside, firing as they fled, and all escaped. The house and outlying buildings were destroyed. John Woods, a well known Dublin solicitor, was arrested today.

MRS. MACSWINEY LANDS.
LONDON, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, widow of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, disembarked here this morning from the steamship Panhandle, which arrived from New York. Only two or three friends greeted her at the quay. There was no demonstration. Mrs. MacSwiney intends to remain in England a few days and then proceed to Ireland.

Blow Up Houses.
DUBLIN, Jan. 11.—Two interesting statements concerning reprisals were made public today. The first, from British authorities, explains that the houses destroyed at Midleton and Meelin, County Cork, were not destroyed by fire, but scientifically by explosives, whose range and effects were carefully calculated.

The second, from a Sinn Fein source, asserts that not the military, but the constabulary, were responsible for the destruction of official residences. A sentence of death has been pronounced in the case of Joseph Murphy of Cork, who was found guilty by a court martial Dec. 15 of having led an attack in Cork Oct. 8 on the military, when he carried a bomb and a revolver. A soldier was killed in this attack.

GALLI-CURCI IN MINNEAPOLIS FOR HER WEDDING

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special.)—Mrs. Galli-Curci, grand opera star, arrived here from Des Moines this afternoon for her wedding. She will be married to her accompanist, Homer Samuels, on Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Samuels.

"It happened like this," the soprano said. "I went to Europe last summer and Mr. Samuels remained in America. It was then that we discovered we loved each other. It was surely a case of 'absence makes the heart grow fonder.'"

As Galli-Curci stepped from the train the platform was entirely shaded, except the spot she stepped into. "There, I knew it," she said. "That is a good omen. The sun, it is shining on me. It is because I am so happy, and of what beautiful weather! Surely everything is grand to me."

Galli-Curci will appear at the Auditorium here tomorrow and in St. Paul Friday. Saturday she will be married and Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Samuels will continue on tour.

LORD MAYOR O'CALLAGHAN.

Unworried by efforts to deport him, Daniel J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, cheerfully thanks the crowd which welcomed him, from the balcony of the Hotel Walcott, New York City.

WILSON TO RULE ON DEPORTATION OF O'CALLAGHAN

President Is Asked to End Cabinet Row.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Decision as to the deportation of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, who arrived in Newport News last week as a stowaway without a passport, was today referred to President Wilson.

President Wilson at today's cabinet meeting was called upon to decide between Acting Secretary Davis of the state department, who has insisted on exclusion of the lord mayor from the United States for attempting to enter without a passport, and that of Secretary of Labor Wilson, who has refused to acknowledge jurisdiction of the state department until the case has been formally presented to it by the labor department.

Wilson's Decision Final.

Secretary Wilson is known to be willing to abide by any disposition which the president is inclined to make in the case, and is prepared to enter an order for O'Callaghan's deportation immediately, if that course should be desired by President Wilson.

Upon the conclusion of the cabinet meeting, however, Secretary Wilson declined to make any statement, although it was indicated that an announcement might be made tomorrow by the labor department.

O'Callaghan to Testify.

O'Callaghan now is in New York. He was released by the department of labor on parole. The commission of the Committee of One Hundred investigating conditions in Ireland announced today that he would testify before it Thursday. It was to give this testimony that the lord mayor came to the United States.

Secretary Wilson called in a number of his subordinates for consideration of Mr. Davis' request.

Grant Gordon, Former Head of Language School, Dead

Chicago friends yesterday received word of the death in New York on Sunday of Grant Gordon, formerly head of the Gordon-Detweiler Language institute here. Mr. Gordon, who was 38 years old, left Chicago about a year ago to become New York manager of the La Salle Extension university of 4046 South Michigan avenue. During the war he was a four minute man here and taught French to soldiers in various camps.

RADICAL FLEES RUSSIA TO WARN YANKEE LABOR

He Calls Lenin Worse than Worst Czars.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—[Associated Press.]—"Communism in Russia is robbery; it tolerates imprisonment, persecution, and execution without trial; it has brought Russia starvation, disease, and death."

"There is no government. It is a worse autocracy than czaristic government, and I lived there for over twenty years under the czar and had the experience necessary to make comparisons."

Is San Francisco Socialist.
M. Schwartz, an American Socialist of San Francisco, who was recently released from four months' imprisonment in Moscow, made this declaration today.

With his wife, known for twenty years in America as a socialist worker under the name of Jessie M. Mollie, he went to Russia last June and attended the second congress of the Third International.

The couple were thrown into prison Aug. 6 because they failed to express approval of conditions in Russia. They were released on Dec. 3 after Mrs. Schwartz went on hunger strike.

Prison Fatal to Wife.
Mrs. Schwartz died at Revel on Dec. 20 from the effects of her long solitary confinement and hunger in soviet prisons, and her husband is returning to America alone.

"Before I went to Russia," Mr. Schwartz said, "I came to Berlin and visited Mrs. Karl Liebknecht to express my sympathy over the death of her husband."

"I will see her again and tell her that the communist leaders in Russia have killed my wife and that I am going to America to tell the working people there the truth about the soviet government which I formerly sympathized with thoroughly and supported on the platform from New York to San Francisco."

Finds New Autocrats.
"I want to tell them what that second congress of the Third International was. It was only Zinovieff, Bukharin, Lenin, and Trotsky. It was all cut and dried. The members were told what action to take, and they did not dare do otherwise."

Before their imprisonment, Mr. Schwartz and his wife traveled through fourteen governments; they visited Samara, Tambov, Nizhny-Novgorod, Tula, Kazan, and many other important centers.

Schwartz is a member of the American Federation of Labor.

Describing the early part of his visit, he said: "Everywhere we went we were met by brass bands and crowds of congress and officials of the soviet government. I soon found that the shouting crowds had to shout, or their food ration would be taken away."

RUSSIAN REDS SOON MAY FACE ALLIED ARMIES

Britain Favors Force Only if Attacked.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Jan. 11.—The foundation of an international army to oppose bolshevik advances in the west will receive careful consideration at a conference of the allied premiers in Paris on Jan. 18, according to information received today from official quarters.

It is believed in diplomatic circles here that the danger of a bolshevik offensive is very real and the policy of the entente will be to conclude an understanding between France and Great Britain as to steps to be taken in case of a Red attack. However, the British will not support any plan which embraces an offensive unless the bolshevik attack.

Depends on Trade Treaty.
The outcome of the situation, the British foreign office and board of trade believe, rests on the fate of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement. In the event that Russia accepts the ultimatum which M. Krassin will carry back to Moscow they do not see any real danger of an attack. M. Krassin left London for Moscow tonight.

If, on the other hand, Russia refuses to accept the agreement, either because of England's inability to assure the exemption of Russian gold, sent in payment for British merchandise, from attachment by the British courts, or because they are not willing to subscribe to the extensive propaganda agreement, then the position of the extremists will be doubly strong.

Board of Trade Skeptical.
Even members of the board of trade, who have insisted for months that trade with Russia would be resumed, are skeptical as to the success of the pact in view of Moscow's present attitude.

Great Britain, they declare, has made every possible concession.

RAP FRENCH POLICY

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Jan. 11.—"Foreign intervention in Russia strengthens the position of the bolshevik," according to the text of a resolution proposed by the socialist revolutionary party yesterday at a session of the Russian constituent assembly here.

This action is a direct rap at the French policy of supporting Denikine, Kolchak, and Wrangel and indorses the British "hands off" policy in refusing to support such operations.

The socialist revolutionaries and the cadets condemned the bolshevik and called on the Russian people to throw off the Red yoke and establish a federal republic.

M. Kharlanoff, representing the Don Cossacks, was applauded when he stated that the Cossacks fought against both the bolshevik and Kolchak.

RICH OR POOR, CUBANS WANT "CUBA LIBRE"

Crowder Finds Menocal
Stands Pat.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]
HAVANA, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Following another conference between President Menocal and Maj. Gen. Crowder at the palace this afternoon, it was learned that practically no progress was made toward any solution of Cuba's economic, financial, or political problems.

Participating in today's conference were members of the central electoral commission, which administered the presidential election of last November, and members of the Supreme court, which has jurisdiction over the appeals and contests which were filed by the liberals in such volume as to bog the election machinery and leave the outcome of the balloting in doubt.

Talks with Bankers.
Gen. Crowder also talked with representatives of New York banking interests concerning the proposed loan of $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 to Cuba and other measures which would enable a lifting of the moratorium and aid toward stabilization of business.

Some bankers want American supervision over the Cuban customs houses in the event a loan is made, with the customs receipts as security.

Neither of the bitterly warring conservative and liberal parties so far has yielded an inch toward a compromise of the election dispute, which, unless settled before May 20, will leave the republic without a regularly elected president and probably would necessitate American intervention then if not sooner.

President Menocal stands pat on his contention that the election was fairly conducted in accord with the law drafted by Gen. Crowder and demands withdrawal of the Liberal contests which he claims were trumped up in an effort to cloud the stability of the election of Dr. Alfredo Zayas.

Liberals for U. S. Supervision.
The Liberals are standing pat on their demand for American supervision of special elections in the provinces in which the result of balloting is alleged to be tainted with gross frauds imposed by the Menocal government and also have shown no disposition so far to adopt any emergency measures to relieve the economic and financial situation.

The right of the American government to coerce Cuba or otherwise to interfere at this juncture is disputed on the ground that the Platt amendment gives the authority to the United States to intervene only for the purpose of preserving a stable government.

There has been no question of the stability of the Menocal government up to date, despite the revolutionary threats of the Gomez liberals and when the Cuban factions manifest within the next few days a sincere disposition to agree upon reform measures, Gen. Crowder will prepare for a showdown with the rebels.

In such an event it is expected he will cable his report of the situation to President Wilson and await instruction before further procedure.

Wilson Message Possible.
A message from President Wilson in the nature of an ultimatum to the factions to settle their differences and remedy the business situation in a manner acceptable to Washington or suffer the consequences of American intervention is regarded as entirely possible as a measure of last resort that might have the desired effect, for least

SILK EXPERTS FROM ORIENT

King Nei, Moy Ling, Pin Yin Tah, and Yin Nioi.

IN silks and satins, in flowing robes and in tight-fitting tailored suits, in skull caps and "toppers," in spats and sandals, fourteen Chinese men and women alighted from an overland train yesterday at the Union station and whisked through an astonished crowd to taxicabs headed for a Chinese restaurant.

The orientals were members of a mission bank for New York to attend the silk exposition, which opens Feb. 7. The party arrived in Vancouver three days ago. A delegation from the Association of Commerce and many other Chicago merchants met the mission.

Ten of the orientals are manufacturers and merchants, one is a mechanical expert, and three of the women are spinning girls. They will erect a loom at New York and show occidentals how they do it.

The party from Los Angeles, which will join in the hunt next Saturday, according to an official of the Buffalo Island Live Stock company, owner of the bison.

The last stand made by the local commercial club in an effort to prevent the slaughter is believed to have failed since W. O. Stillman, president of the American Humane society, who was appealed to yesterday, replied today it was too late to perfect negotiations.

"Under the terms set forth by the Buffalo Island Live Stock company," he said, "it would take at least six months to make the proper financial arrangements."

New York, Jan. 11.—Jeremiah Bohan, former internal revenue agent, today was indicted by a grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree for the alleged killing of "Monk" Eastman, gangster-soldier, on Dec. 26.

Bohan, police alleged, confessed to them after surrendering last week, that he shot Eastman following an argument in a Fourteenth street restaurant.

METHODISTS TALK WELFARE; BESET BY NOISE

Reporter Finds Pastors in Boisterous Setting.

Several hundred ministers from all parts of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church met last night in the Hotel La Salle to discuss church problems and the spiritual welfare of the area and the community at large. The occasion was the opening of the three-day conference of the board of benevolence.

The following is a description of the experience of a reporter and a minister who went in quest of the meeting and found juxtaposed to it entertainment of a lighter vein:

"Eighteenth floor," said an obliging elevator man. "Turn to the right." They did, forcing their way through a doorway and into the middle of a crowded and highly excited gathering. Then they turned their eyes to the speakers' platform and—

"Ah-h-h-m crazy 'bout moonshine," stated the plump, languid young woman speaker, wriggling a very bare and dimpled shoulder. "Ah-h love it so!" Business of kicking one silk clad leg and taking two "toddle" steps.

Thinks It Wrong Place.
"This," said the minister, hurriedly seeking the door, "is not the place. Let be across the hall."

Half way across the searchers met a bevy of bare arms and shoulders, deep "v" backs, and knee length dancing frocks over sheer silk.

"O, wonderful jazz," the bevy remarked in chorus, fairly walking over the minister, "can that old saxophone moan?"

"This is becoming serious," muttered the minister, backing away from the bevy and its background of jazz orchestra, "where can the council be?"

"Bankers' convention to the right, military hop to the left," said a floor attendant as though in answer to the bewildered clergyman. "What's that? Methodist bunch? O yes. Find 'em in the little room three doors down there. Close that window, Harry. Can't you see how these girls are dressed?"

Hymns Mix With Jazz.
The little room was filled to the doors with black clothed, serious minded men. A white string tie showed here and there. The melody of an old hymn floated out above the open transom.

It mingled with the thundering nearby chorus of "My Gal, She's Just as Cute as She Can Be" on one side and "Cuban Moon" on the other. Then the voice of Bishop Thomas Nicholson carried on against the syncretized competition.

"The state of morality in our high schools," he declared, "is shocking. The extent of immorality there is almost unbelievable. Religion is teaching in the home and the establishment of the old time religious academies alone can combat it."

After the council adjourned the bishop walked to the elevator with the jazz orchestra, buffeting him on one side and a girl in a gold waist band and dancing slippers twirling in a mad revel on the other.

"No," he said in answer to the reporter's question, "I do not believe in

WHO WON THE WAR? NAPOLEON! HE TOLD DESTINN ABOUT IT

Who won the war? Napoleon!

The correct answer to that international question which has both brains and statesmen on both sides of the Atlantic was brought to Chicago yesterday by Emmy Destinn, the famous soprano who is paying a visit here for the first time in five years.

"Yes, sir," said the prima donna, "I (Copyright: By Mink.) been in direct communication with Napoleon, and he told me conditionally he had been the personal inspiration of Foch all through the war. He appeared to me in a vision. And here's something else he told me. There is going to be another European war this summer, a conflict between two of the great nations. It will not be quite as brutal as the world war, but it will be a far reaching one."

Mrs. Destinn's castle at Strazh, 200 miles from Prague in Czechoslovakia, is filled with relics of Napoleon, curios and pictures of the great general.

"I keep constantly in touch with Napoleon," she said, "and I find he keeps informed of military progress in the world today."

The blue laws as such, I do not wish to bring Puritanism back to the world, but I do believe in the reestablishment of practical morality and decency."

Program for Today.
Today the program begins at 8:30 with morning devotion, followed by an address on "The Ministry of Healing," by N. E. Davis and ten minute talks on "Our Hospitals"—Wesley Peoria, and Methodist Memorial. At 10 o'clock "Our Educational Institutions" will be discussed for twenty minutes each. This evening Harry A. Wheeler will speak on "A Business Man's View on the Need of a Trained Ministry."

DEPUTIES FIGHT AT OPENING OF
FRENCH CHAMBER

PARIS, Jan. 11.—Raoul Peret was reelected president of the chamber of deputies today without opposition at the first session of parliament after the Christmas recess, and the senatorial elections, receiving 371 votes.

A short but spirited fist encounter between Leon Daudet, Royalist, of the extreme right, and Alexandre Blanc, Socialist, of the extreme left, provided an exciting moment or two for the throngs in the lobby at today's reopening of the chamber.

The representatives of the two extremes chanced to meet in the lobby and Deputy Blanc took occasion to ask M. Daudet to discontinue his campaign in L'Action Francaise, which he edits, against the Socialists. M. Daudet's reply was that he intended to intensify his campaign.

At this M. Blanc swung open-handed with right and left, landing both blows. M. Daudet countered with a heavy right, flooring Deputy Blanc for a short count.

Leon Daudet fought eleven duels with swords or pistols before the war

COPS SEEK KING OF PUNCHBOARD AS EMBEZZLER

Frank Carrigan is known as the "punchboard king." He can sell punchboards as fast as a milkman can deliver milk, but he could collect the boards, it has developed, with equal celerity. That is why Detective Sergeants Coyle and Galliker were just two hops behind him yesterday in north shore towns.

Carrigan, known familiarly as "Bert," Carrigan, recently was employed by the Universal Candy company. He shipped with between $4,000 and $5,000 of the firm's money when he left that concern. He also used to work for the Continental Jewelry company. But more recently he had been the star salesman for the Cranfield Manufacturing company, 4003 Broadway, selling punchboards along the north shore.

It was discovered he had collected about $5,000 of the concern's money and had gone around with the chief of police of North Chicago taking up the punchboards as fast as he had put them out. Each punchboard contains a certain amount of jewelry. With his automobile filled with these he skipped to Niles Center, where he sold his car, purchased on the installment plan, to Otto Kremer, a druggist. Kremer was indignant when the policeman, acting for Harrington & Rodger, 2424 Michigan avenue, holders of the mortgage, relieved him of the car.

Altogether Carrigan is said to have made off with between $10,000 and $15,000 in jewelry, money, and the proceeds of worthless checks.

AUTO ACCIDENT TRAPS $150,000 MARKET THIEVES

An automobile accident yesterday led to the roundup of a gang of wagon thieves alleged to have stolen between $100,000 and $150,000 worth of meats within the last few weeks. Last night the Grand Crossing station held nearly $30,000 worth of recovered loot—sugar, coffee, tea, canned goods, hams, and sides of bacon.

Two men were arrested early yesterday by Detective Sergeant William McCarthy of the state's attorney's office as they were attempting to steal a truck laden with groceries at South fourth street and Cottage Grove avenue. McCarthy saw two men jump out of a flivver and board the truck. He gave chase. At a corner the truck upset and the men were pinned beneath it.

The men gave their names as Bernard Bogus, 927 West Thirty-fifth place, and Frank Steffek, 2487 West Forty-seventh place. On information supplied by them the police later arrested Perry Kincaid, 6224 South Ashland avenue; Maurice Sullivan, 6921 South Racine avenue; Frank Kunza, 1592 Cottage Grove avenue; Albert Chase, 7045 South Union avenue, and Otto G. Stiles, 6336 Woodlawn avenue.

Steffek recently opened two markets, one at Sixty-ninth and Sangamon streets and another at 7082 South Chicago avenue. Stiles conducts a market at 3559 South Wallace street, and Kunza and Chase recently established another at Sixty-third street and Langley avenue.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The Pere Tranquille restaurant, located in the slums near the central markets, was raided at 5 o'clock this morning and fifty Americans breakfasting there, following a wild night in the Montmartre district, were arrested. They were taken to a police station and after their papers were examined they were freed.

The Pere Tranquille is the headquarters of drug vendors in Paris and is also a popular gathering place for parties who wish to continue their festivities after the night clubs are closed.

Some Party Under Way.
There were bizarre sights in the early hours this morning when bejeweled women in low cut gowns and men in evening clothes sat beside Apaches and demi-mondaines singing hilarious songs and consuming many bottles of wine.

Suddenly two Americans and an actress who were charged 600 francs for three plates of soup, ham and eggs, and two bottles of champagne, protested and three Apaches threatened them.

After the Americans paid the bill and left the cafe the Apaches followed them and beat them severely. The Americans complained to the police and the raid followed.

THE Veterans corps of the 1st Illinois cavalry and the 1234 field artillery will give an entertainment and dance next Friday evening in the 1st field artillery armory at 234 East Chicago avenue.

The proceeds are to be used for furnishing a club room given to the organization by Col. Frank R. Schwengel of the 1st field artillery.

Mrs. G. Fred Rush and Mrs. Charles H. Alsep are among the patronesses.

as a convenience for the market people and a special license was granted permitting it to be opened at 4 in the morning.

Later it was appropriated by the American tourists and a dance hall was opened upstairs, wherein was installed a jazz band.

After the Americans became its patrons champagne, onion soup, ham and eggs, and fruit were the sole articles on the menu.

200,000 JOBLESS, UNIONS' CHIEFS SEEK SOLUTION

Meet Feb. 6 to Take Up Problem Here.

The Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday sent requests to every union in the city to delegate three representatives to a special meeting to be held Feb. 6 in Musician's hall to discuss ways and means to meet the "artificial" unemployment situation.

"There is no such thing as an unemployment situation," John Fitzpatrick, president of the Federation of Labor, said last night.

Sees Plan to Wreck Unions.

"There is such a thing as an 'artificial' unemployment situation, by which employers, chambers of commerce, and manufacturers' associations are trying to disrupt labor unions in the country."

"At present there is plenty of work for all, providing the workers want to work for pauper wages. One of the great menaces that confronts labor now is the lockout system which was instituted by employers for the disruption of organized labor and the reduction of wages to a greater degree than the cost of living has been lowered."

200,000 Idle in Chicago.

Figures obtained by a federation canvass show 200,000 persons are idle in Chicago at present. Sixty per cent of the building trade craftsmen are not working, along with 40 per cent of the metal trades and 35 per cent of the garment workers.

All leather and tannery employes are unemployed.

HUSBAND NAMES WIFE'S PASTOR; GIVEN DIVORCE

Because the Rev. Milton H. St. John, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church at 3214 West Monroe street, failed to practice as he preached, according to evidence before Judge Rush in the Circuit court yesterday, Frank Larabee, 120 North California avenue, was granted a decree of divorce.

Despite the fact that the clergyman was wont to lecture on "The Great Moral Issue of the Twentieth Century," he exhibited an undue affection for Mrs. Anna S. Larabee, her husband told the court.

Larabee produced a signed statement made by his wife in the presence of William Guthrie, an elder in the church, admitting indiscretions with her pastor. Judge Rush indicated that he would grant Larabee custody of the three children.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR
Below Cost

We want to state again with greater emphasis that Ford cars are already being sold at a figure actually below cost and for an indefinite period another reduction or change in design is entirely out of the question and not at all contemplated.

The necessary curtailment in production of cars at this time will undoubtedly mean a shortage this spring, so that many desiring Ford cars will be obliged to wait, perhaps, until midsummer for delivery. Better buy now when delivery can be made.

INDUSTRY NEARS NORMAL SPEED, FINANCIER SAYS

Gotham Banker Predicts
Prosperous Year.

New York, Jan. 11.—The United States has passed through the most critical of its post-war readjustments, although many more must be made, Francis H. Sisson, New York banker, declared at the annual dinner of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce here tonight.

There is ample ground, he said, "for believing that we shall reach a relatively stable condition in this country in the very near future."

Disaster Readjustments.
The adjustment of production costs will involve and, in fact, will consist, he said, "chiefly of wage adjustments, although increased efficiency and decreased margins of profit will lower prices."

Mr. Sisson declared merchants and producers who hold their goods for prices that the public will not pay are courting disaster and preparing to swell the number of commercial failures.

Country Nearing Normal.
Dayton, O., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—"Almost every fundamental condition in this country is tending toward a healthy, solid prosperity," B. C. Forbes, editor of Forbes Magazine, declared at the opening session of the Hundred Per Cent Club of the National Cash Register Company here. More than 500 sales agents and salesmen of the company attended.

First Vice President J. H. Barringer of the company said: "Things are getting back to normal and now is the time to plan for the future, to go forward instead of retrenching."

Nash Takes Back 2,000.
Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The Nash Motors company of Kenosha, which has been running with a greatly reduced force, started operations today, reemploying 2,000 of its former workmen. Its output is now forty cars a day and it is planned to build back to normal as quickly as possible. In peak war times the plant employed more than 5,000 men and had an output of nearly 250 cars a day.

Other Prosperity Signs.
DECATUR, Ill.—The A. E. Staley Manufacturing company, starch and glucose, took back 500 men.

TOLEDO, O.—Number of unemployed reduced here in week from about 27,000 to 15,000, through many being men from the farms having gone back.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Figures just available show the Carnegie Steel company broke all December records in the production of steel. The company mills are at 85 per cent of capacity, and those of the United States Steel corporation as a whole on an average of 91 1/2 per cent.

MANCHESTER, England.—The first sign of a revival in the cotton trade is shown in the decision of the Federation of Master Spinners to extend short time in the mills spinning Egyptian cotton to a fortnight, instead of a month, and in the meantime to take a ballot on future action.

PEORIA, Ill.—Officials of the Holt company, manufacturers of tractors, will submit to the 1,400 employees a 20 per cent pay cut.

BUYERS' RUSH ALMOST FEARED BY AUTO MEN

May Sell to Old Customers Only.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Leaders of the automobile industry here for the twenty-first national automobile show are today filled with optimism. They have felt the pulse of the nation and they agree that the prospects for the coming season are bright.

Many predict a shortage of pleasure cars. Almost all agree that the man who has never before owned an automobile will have trouble making a purchase this year. The factories will be busy making replacements, they assert.

Finishes Tour of Country.
The situation was explained this morning by Edward S. Jordan, president of the motor company bearing his name. He has just completed a circle of the country.

"I am never over-optimistic," he said. "But I cannot help but believe that we will have a good year, and I will tell you why."

"At present there are in the United States 100,000 to 125,000 motor cars waiting to be sold. Last year 1,900,000 automobiles were manufactured, and of that number approximately 900,000 were sold. Now, if you figure ten months of manufacturing last year you will find that there are on hand ready to sell about one month's supply."

"Now, most of the motor men came to this show wondering what every one else was going to do about prices. But we find that prices are going to stand as they are."

Knows Hold Old Prices.
"You know when Ford made his cut the public went on a buying strike. They thought the rest of the industry would follow, but that has not happened and it won't. So the public is going to begin buying."

"There are in America 9,000,000 automobiles waiting out. The industry will be called upon to replace approximately 1,000,000 cars this season."

Arthur Lee Newton, manager of the New York branch of the Buick Motor company, asserted today that spring will find about ten buyers for every car.

Choose New Officers

ORVA G. WILLIAMS was elected last night to the presidency of the Iroquois club. Other officers are James C. Jeffery, vice president; Joseph F. Triska, treasurer; and Joseph H. Fitch, secretary.

The dinner which preceded the election was given in honor of former Judge John P. McGorty, who recently retired from the circuit court bench to resume the private practice of law. Another event was the burning of a mortgage which had been paid off just before the thirty-eighth annual election.

The board of directors is made up of the following members: Carl R. Latham, retiring president; Julius F. Smietanka, Edward A. Doyle, William L. O'Connell, Henry O. Miller, Otto Kubin, Roswell B. Mason, D. P. Green, John P. Mahoney, Francis X. Busch, Patrick J. Carr, Henry Barrett Chamberlin, Michael T. Igou, James I. Innis, and Francis Borelli.

RAIL OFFICIALS START FIGHT TO END AGREEMENT
Declaring that nearly 700 rules laid down by the national agreements handicap the railroads so that initiative is practically impossible among executives, E. T. Whiter yesterday began a discussion of the rules before the United States Railway Labor Wage board.

Mr. Whiter, as chairman of the railroad managers' committee, is urging the board to abrogate the national agreement and permit each individual road to make its own agreements.

He began with the shop agreement, which contains 136 clauses. In the four hours of the session he succeeded in covering only the first twenty-two.

Court Orders Husband

Mrs. James Swartz, 4033 West Twenty-first street, who has been confined to her bed with paralysis for the last ten months, will be permitted to see her two children as a result of the decision of Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday. It was brought out that Swartz deserted her wife Sept. 10 and took the children with him. He must pay $25 to the support of his wife.

NOW IS TIME TO BUILD, SAYS HEAD OF CONTRACTORS

Drop in Material Prices
Pointed Out.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
"The time to start building is now," was the note sounded at the annual convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Illinois yesterday by J. C. Wuelner of Alton, vice president of the organization.

With $150,000,000 worth of construction projects slumbering on the shelf in Chicago and contractors complaining that for more than a month stagnation is such that they have not even had "jobs to figure on," the prevailing belief among the trade seemed to be that spring will see a revival of activities, but only a moderate one.

Its extent, they say, will depend upon how far building materials proceed toward a stabilized price level and how soon and how much the banks loosen up on credits. Likewise, upon the attitude building labor assumes toward the question of wage reductions to say, the level prevailing a year ago, before the 1920 raises were made.

Slight Material Drops.
The bulletin of the association, in speaking upon "prospects," says: "There seems to be little prospect of any large volume of construction work being planned this month or for some time to come. Slight drops in material are reported, but not sufficient to encourage the building public to move. They are waiting for additional drops and to see if labor is going to stand pat or make some concessions to help decrease the cost."

In the ante-rooms builders from all parts of Illinois declared that prices of building materials have not dropped far enough, that the cost of money has not come down, that wages have not descended, and that costs are still so high they hold the public off as they did last summer and fall.

Expect Resumption in March.
But they look for some resumption in March or April and an increase of activity from that time on. When building actually becomes lively, however, the consensus among the contractors is that prices of supplies may begin to climb again, due to a shortage of materials and the bidding of builders against each other for stuff to put into their jobs.

From this some argue that the man who builds early will not be unwise, for despite high prices he will get the advantage of increased efficiency of craftsmen, lowering his labor costs, and will also have prompt delivery of supplies.

"Pre-war efficiency of labor is to be expected and will again prevail," said Mr. Wuelner. "Exceptions, of course, will be common, especially where excessive local demand for labor temporarily upsets all standards. At the present time we find that production by workers is close to normal.

Comparison Shows Few Reductions.
A comparison of retail prices of building materials from Aug. 31 to Dec. 31, inclusive, discloses surprisingly few reductions. Lime seems to be higher in nearly all sections, also crushed stone and fire brick.

Common brick differs more, being higher in some cities and lower in others. The same thing can be said of Portland cement and hollow tile.

"Transportation is still a problem. Many people are too complacent about the situation. Undoubtedly railroad service has improved greatly, but demand upon the roads is not what it was last year. Business sooner or later is sure to revive and the farmer to send his stored products to market."

When this occurs the railroad will again have more than they are able to handle. If everybody wants cement, the farmer turns loose his grain, and business in general quickens, all at the same time, a lot of people are going to be disappointed by delays in their work. The time to start construction work is now."

Material Men to Meet Here.
President Elect Harding has expressed interest in the massing of building materials producers to be held in Chicago Jan. 21 and 22 under the auspices of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. John W.

Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., who headed a delegation of lumber manufacturers who went to Marion, O., Jan. 8, says: "I gathered that Senator Harding believes the manufacturers of lumber have approached a possible solution of the problem of how to start construction work by reducing prices and pocketing their losses. Personally, I am convinced he is interested heart and soul in this national problem and will do all in his power to aid us in helping the sluggish building industry regain its usual activity."

Campaign Is Started to Stimulate Building

A campaign to show that the price of lumber has decreased and to stimulate building was decided upon by the Northern Illinois Lumbermen's club in the Hotel La Salle yesterday. C. L. Schwartz of Naperville, Ill., secretary of the club, said that if other dealers in building materials cut prices as lumbermen have, a great building boom will start this spring.

TWO TAKEN AS SOUTH GEND SUSPECTS.
Special Police Charles J. Jelliffe of the Grand Trunk railroad arrested C. M. Mathis and Charles H. Howard in the station at Central Park avenue and Fifty-first street as suspecting the destruction of men wanted at South Bend in connection with numerous taxicab robberies.

Let in Fresh Air and Shut Out Drafts

A Simple Test Establishes How Perfectly
the Prairie Window Ventilator Does It

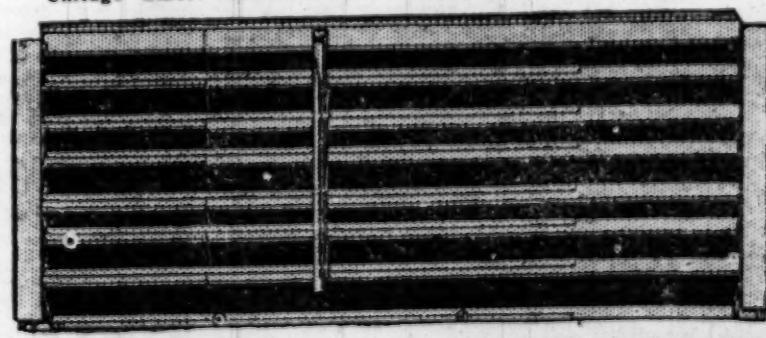

At last a successful Window Ventilator is available; one that lets in plenty of stimulating, outdoor fresh air without the possibility of drafts or rain-drenched windowsills and floors during a thunder shower, or icy blasts and rifts of snow when the winter wind howls round the corner.

Prairie WINDOW VENTILATOR Fresh Air for the Millions

The simple candle test illustrated above proves conclusively that there is no possibility of a draft. A Prairie Window Ventilator is placed on a table with an electric fan on the outside of the ventilator. On the inside about six inches from the ventilator is placed a lighted candle. By actual test, when the fan is turned on directly in front of the ventilator, the flame of the candle is not blown out, but is attracted toward the ventilator by the upward deflection of the air. The air is forced through the ventilator directly up toward the ceiling.

PUBLICITY VS. CRIME.

Some fifteen months ago THE TRIBUNE determined to begin a special effort to arouse public opinion to an effective protest against crime conditions in this community. The public, it did not actually indifferent to these conditions, had come to accept them almost as a normal and unavoidable aspect of life, to be submitted to cynically or sadly, as to death or taxes.

In this situation THE TRIBUNE was fully aware that law enforcement was blocked or perverted all along the line by the influence of organized vice and crime upon politics and the machinery of enforcement it controls.

The interests of organized law breaking, organized vice, organized crime had pretty much their own way with public authority because they were not counteracted by vigorous public demand for law enforcement. Our deplorable crime conditions would continue as long as this unopposed system of pull continued. The way out, therefore, was clear. The point of attack was plain. Public opinion must be wakened to such protest that public authority would respond to it rather than to the multiple, subterranean pressures and manipulations of the underworld alliance with local politics.

The first conspicuous victory in the campaign was the defeat of the attempt to cover the crime against Bertha Wieleck. The struggle began late in 1918 or early in 1919. Its value in the campaign for public enlightenment was great because not only was the crime such as to horrify the decent people of the city in a high degree, but it had brought out strikingly the workings of politics in the crime situation. In March the state's attorney's office publicly stated that "in examining witnesses and conducting this investigation we very quickly learned that powerful influence was brought to bear to obstruct our inquiry. Propaganda was being constantly spread by channels (the negro policeman involved) and politicians who were sponsoring his cause."

The political pressure that was brought to bear in this case already has had its effect in Chambers being allowed to resign from the police department, even though under charges. This gives Chambers a clear record in the department and precludes the possibility of bringing him to trial before the civil service commission. Our investigation has emphasized the organized and politically protected ring of gamblers, crooks, and vice lords who specialize in exploiting white girls.

One alderman, Louis B. Anderson, the mayor's City Council floor leader, was attorney for Chambers until the case came to trial, when more political counsel were employed. Judge Stelt, before whom the earlier proceedings were held, asserted from the bench that the public excitement over the case was a result of the newspapers and women's organizations with the "sensational articles they were publishing to the world" and he declared this was "a disgrace to the city."

However, the public was awake and expressing effectively, at least as to this case, its demand for enforcement of law. That demand was obeyed. It always will be if it is determined and informed. Chambers was convicted and is now in the penitentiary. That was one scored for the law, and besides the community had a vivid exposure of what our crime conditions actually mean.

We had taken a long step forward, but conditions were still intolerable. The police force could hardly be considered an organization for the enforcement of law, the prevention of crime, the apprehension of criminals. Its head was not chosen for police efficiency but for political considerations and could not or did not make his administration effective for public protection. Murders averaged almost one a day; highway robbery and burglary flourished. Burglary insurance rate had increased from 35 to 40 per cent. Bank and store robberies and burglaries and interception of cash transfers to banks became rampant. THE TRIBUNE's campaign began to broaden in the business and church communities.

At the same time, the influences in the law breaking world and its allies in politics started a strong backfire. It took especially a line foreseen from the first by THE TRIBUNE, that is, THE TRIBUNE was accused of "knocking Chicago." This is an argument which appeals to the men of substance upon whom energetic civic organization largely depends. It is plausible. No one likes to face facts which may discredit his home and his own good citizenship. All good citizens are proud of Chicago and jealous of its fair name. It is a painful and usually worse than thankless task to expose our own failings.

Yet the backfire did not get far. The conditions were not favorable to the sophistry of the horn. Crime conditions were too flagrant to be hid. The duty of resisting them, of appealing to the public conscience, was too plain. The crime commission created by the city's representative business or organization, the Association of Commerce, which had been working unostentatiously but efficiently, illustrated the spirit of intelligent business men and the determination of the community to reform the administration of the criminal law. The campaign went forward.

Then came the most sensational of the bank robberies and twenty-four hours after THE TRIBUNE's editorial demanding action from the city hall, the superintendent of police was removed and Charles Fitzmorris put at the head of the department, with the mayor's pledge, it is understood, of full support in a genuine clean-up of our police affairs.

Since Mr. Fitzmorris' appointment encouraging results have appeared. The chief is considered to be a man of irreproachable character, of energy, ability, and desire to serve the city well. If the support of the mayor is given him, as it seems to have been up to this time, he will reform our police conditions and break the back of the vice and crime system in this city. Our hope that he will continue to have this support has been strengthened by the mayor's speech last week to the police men exhorting them to enforce the law. This should be another milestone in THE TRIBUNE's campaign. The mayor declares openly and emphatically for police efficiency and law enforcement. But the fight is not over; far from it. Organized law breaking and its alliance with politics are not paralyzed. The underground wires are still working. The peculiar pressures that appear in politics and even in business show how wide are their ramifications. There is but one way to beat the system. It is by fearless exposure. We call this especially to the attention of those well meaning citizens who deprecate "these sensational stories of crime." Without them crime and its allies would go on under cover with impunity. Publicity and publicity alone informs and arouses public opinion and forces the unfaithful public servant to do his duty in spite of the pressure of the powers that prey.

This truth has been fully demonstrated in the course of THE TRIBUNE's campaign, and it will guide us in the performance of our duty to Chicago, a duty not of silence but of plain speaking. The hammer will swing until the evil house of crime and vicious politics is down and the horn can sound for a real victory of good government.

THE INAUGURAL CEREMONY.

Mr. Harding's preference, of course, ought to control the ceremonies of his inauguration and will do so. That preference is for the greatest simplicity and the cutting of public and private contributions to the minimum.

We trust the effect of the decision will be what Mr. Harding wishes it to be as an example of economy in government and a reminder that thrift is a very timely virtue these days.

YANKS ON THE RHINE.

There are 15,300 American soldiers on the Rhine and their upkeep costs Germany 2,900,000,000 marks a year, according to the German estimate. They have no duty under the treaty of Versailles because the United States is not a party to that and may never be. They form an American spear point in Europe but have no purpose. The other armies of occupation are in occupied territory by the terms of peace. Americans are still at war with Germany and they have an army in Germany.

The equivocalities are not important but there is no reason why American soldiers should not be brought back. They are a long way from home. It is the American hope to keep soldiers out of Europe.

Germany's economic rehabilitation is of the greatest consequence to the world and even if it is a comparatively small drain upon German resources to maintain American troops in Germany it is a drain which ought to be stopped. It does not represent indemnity. It has no value in that fashion.

It is American opinion that the United States should not undertake police work in Europe. That opinion has been politically expressed as the basis for a new foreign policy which will go into effect March 4. The soldiers of the United States army may remain on the Rhine until March 4 but we think they will come home soon after that, as they should.

SHUT THE GATES.

John R. Wiggins, representing Pennsylvania construction industries and manufacturers, told the senate committee on immigration, that there was no flood of Europeans threatened into the United States and that what the country needed was the elimination or modification of the literacy tests and the contract restriction laws.

When the country is full of jobless men the Pennsylvania delegation would like to have the right to contract for ignorant European labor at so much per head and have it delivered at the plant. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, told the committee that reports to him indicated 1,819,000 unemployed in 141 cities and that he did not dare estimate what the total for the country would be.

It does not require a labor survey to show that unemployment is one of the serious elements in the American economic situation. It is only one element in the immigration complication but it is sufficiently important.

Mr. Wiggins represents a policy not only opposed to a tightening of immigration restriction to get the United States out of an emergency, but in favor of eliminating restrictions now imposed by the law. This is one of the influences which is making congress wobble on the immigration question. The plain course for congress is to close the gates tight for a period which will protect the country from inundation. Then it can determine what restrictions and regulations should prevail when conditions are back at normal.

The employer who wants to buy cheap European labor is against this, and consequently is against his own countrymen. The hyphenates are against it because they set up the case of Europeans as more deserving of consideration than the case of Americans. The shipping companies are against it because they want human cargoes. These influences combined are powerful.

It is inconsequential to the opposition that unrestricted immigration may bring to the United States many European disasters without contributing anything to the relief of humanity. The interests of American nationality, of the American political system and of American industries demand a relief from over strain. We have reached the point of saturation and we cannot take care of all the driven here in a panic.

Editorial of the Day

(Des Moines Capital.)

"A 'Voice of the People' in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE would stop the wild statements often made by public speakers and would apply the same rules to written and oral statements. It is charged that the city statistician of Philadelphia recently told a Chicago audience that if all the men in the United States would shine their own shoes, the money saved in that manner would be sufficient to pay the national war debt in one year. 'A wild statement indeed for a statistician,' says the 'Voice': 'ten cents per day for every man in the United States would not be enough to pay the interest on the war debt.'"

Perhaps it would be unfair to expect all orators to tell the truth, but after all, substitutes for the truth do not pay in the long run. Public speakers and newspapers that are constantly inaccurate must eventually lose the confidence of the people, and that most valuable of assets is the hardest thing in the world to regain. There never is a shortage of facts. Newspapers and orators should deal in plain truth. They should be expected to tell honest words just as the merchant is expected to sell honest goods.

WHY BOAST?

Anybody would think the way Chicago's police are talking about its crime wave that it was the only city in the United States that had one.—Detroit News.

Sir: On frequent trips to your city one picks up many valuable impressions. While in a large office I was asked by an industrious manner in which an entry clerk wielded his pen, although it frequently carried no ink and there were blank spaces over which he had scribbled but had entered no record. Curiously explained, an explanation which was politely given to the effect that the Efficiency Expert had restricted the number of dips to 24 per hour. When the record seemed important it was occasionally necessary to wait for time, but usually no harm was done by allowing the pen to run dry in spots. Upon thanking him and apologizing for using ten minutes of his time, he brightly replied that no harm had been done because there were thereby four dips ahead.

The Strand of Dreams.
Sir: Now while Ithili sojourned in the city of Ithili, he fell into a dream, a dream of the gods. With Ithili, a comely priestess of the high goddess Rhit, and Ithili with gentle words warned the gods of the vagabond folk of his philosophy, so that he was nearly like to be useful that it was not for him wholeheartedly to serve the meticulous Rhit in company with the gentle Ithili, for the dark eyes of the priestess were soft and kindly as the night.

"But Rhit I cannot believe," quaverously cried Ithili and from all his heart, "I am Rhit! I seek always, whom they call Aht in the islands ultramarine. Yet I may never find in the city of Ithili, for I am among the ways of men. Though in Yosse's smile she mocked me, and I have been her betimes among the stars, or when the night winds blew from the shore beside the wistful sea. So then I strum idle melodies on my lute-guitar, essaying thus to sing in plaintive words my way of life."

"But thus you will surely never find happiness nor any comfort at all," said Ithili reproachfully. "For she did not love me." "I am Ithili," replied the minstrel. "Indeed, it is a question if anyone cares at all for the songs I weave from my music-livered mind; certainly not they who serve the high goddess Rhit these hundred years, for perhaps rightly they deprecate the words of any unfortunate, enough to be my league to their confused generation. Yet are your eyes, gentle Ithili, kindly and very soft when I whisper to you of my music-livered mind. I shall sing wistfully to you of my Strand of Dreams. For there is a certain sweetness even in life despair."

NOT ALWAYS DANGER SIGNAL.

A SMALL amount of albumin in the urine, unaccompanied by casts, may not be very significant, especially in young men and perhaps young women also. A year or more ago we found an account of the effects of athletics in young men. Then it was found that boys who had played hard games of tennis, football, run marathons and shotguns, and engaged in other competitive sports were frequently found to have some albumin in the urine.

Dr. M. Nicholson found that 10 per cent of a group who had just played football had albumin in their urine; 18 per cent of a group who had just run three miles were similarly affected. But Dr. Barranger, while agreeing with these observations, did not think it meant anything. He examined a group of seventy men who had been found to have albuminuria as young men ten years before. Twenty-eight of them still had some albumin in the urine, but none of them had any other sign of Bright's disease.

Dr. D. C. Parmenter, working with the students of Harvard university, found that a very large proportion, especially of the younger classmen, had some albumin in the urine. The proportion affected was 5 to 10 per cent. Of thirty-three track team candidates 7 per cent had albuminuria, 4 per cent of the hockey players had it, 4 per cent of the football players had it. Only one of the players on the first eleven was affected by it. It is seen that the symptom was about as prevalent among the athletes as in the general student body, but no more so. He examined some upper class men who were known to have had albuminuria when lower class men. He found that the disorder had not developed into anything serious. The conclusion that he arrived at is that albuminuria, especially among men of college freshman age, is quite prevalent in respect of athletes.

He took the boys with albuminuria and examined and analyzed them more closely to discover some reasons. Of the forty, six had heart trouble of one sort or another.

A man with heart trouble should watch his kidney action with discrimination. A little albumin in the urine may be the only evidence that his compensation is not quite what it should be. Some of the six had irregular or rapid pulse.

Another factor of major consequence was his posture. Four of the boys had spinal curvature. Others who were without spinal curvature had various posture faults.

Another important factor was nervous makeup. Some of the boys who seemed all right in other particulars were on edge most of the time, were lacking in nervous poise and stability.

The majority of the cases gave evidence of being transitory. The urine contained

Cary, Ill. Jan. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I can almost hear the clatter of types and the scratch of pens that are busy this morning framing an answer to the letter in your issue of today headed "The Heroic Slacker," and this is one of them. Mr. Lyons is of such small caliber that he cannot write such a letter as George Lyons did to him. He is a hero in the eyes of the people in America. He should live in Russia with the rest of his kind.

I did not go to war, but am not proud of it. However, I did not claim exemption. I consider the writer of that letter a dirty coward. To insult our soldiers in the manner he did is criminal. L. H.

Independence, Ia. Jan. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Any person that would write such a letter as George Lyons did to him is a hero in the eyes of the people in America. He should live in Russia with the rest of his kind.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Apropos of George Lyons' letter on objectors, it is too bad there were not more conscientious objectors in Germany than those few hundred supermen who defied the rank military machine and told the Kaiser to look elsewhere for his vandals and murderers.

Just as long as men are sufficiently glib and stupid to swallow the poisonous militaristic and linguistic arguments of the Junker press in all countries, so long will there be wars, because papers like THE TRIBUNE can always accommodate them by feigning up trouble if the public is willing to pay the fiddler.

The world has stood long enough for this costly, degrading, vile, and colossal very stupid hysteria of militarism. Must we go on until all civilization is engulfed in its barbaric horror?

Kankakee, Ill. Jan. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—We of Kankakee post, No. 35, American Legion, are not even a little bit peeved at being called a "yellow, loose backed" organization by such as this caricature George Lyons proves himself to be. We are only pained and shocked that such un-American expressions are permitted to be printed even in this country of free speech.

We do not crave sympathy from such as Lyons, and we have our own opinions as to who the real heroes of the war were. These heroes are not the ones who served out the war at the expense of the government at the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, refusing to turn

STAGE SET FOR SPEEDY JUSTICE FOR O'CONNOR

"Tommy" O'Connor will learn today that the law has a long arm, as he is to be tried for the murder of Jimmie Cherin, a witness who had disappeared, the state is ready to try O'Connor for the murder of Jimmie Cherin.

A new indictment was voted against him on Monday. Then, to bring him within the court's jurisdiction, an old robbery case was set for hearing yesterday and his lawyer and bondman notified to have him present.

When the case was called in Judge Hugo Pam's court yesterday he did not appear. The lawyer said he was not in the city, but if the court would not forfeit the bond he would produce him today. Judge Pam agreed.

Doubt Miller's Story.

Miller's story of the kidnapping on the day preceding that on which he was to tell a jury of how he witnessed the killing of Cherin, by O'Connor in the back seat of an automobile he was driving, was openly doubted by Benjamin Newman, chief investigator for State's Attorney Crowe. He is taking precautions to prevent a repetition of Miller's disappearance.

If Miller seeks to evade testifying against O'Connor, he will be placed on trial on several charges, one of which will be the larceny of the machine in which Cherin was killed, which was a stolen car. He has also been identified in an Irving Park robbery.

Cherin's Father Freed.

The charge of larceny against Deputy Bailiffs Dominick Cherin and John Witt, the former, "Jimmie" Cherin's father, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Hugh R. Stewart. Judge Stewart ruled that there was no evidence to show that either had a hand in the stealing of an automobile found in the possession of John Grochowiak.

JOHN B. M'AFEE DIES IN LONDON AFTER OPERATION

LONDON, Jan. 11.—John Blair M'Affee, banker and director in many corporations, died this morning following an abdominal operation.

JOHN BLAIR M'AFEE.

Mr. M'Affee was born in St. John's, N. F., in 1861, and went to Philadelphia when a boy. He had a varied career, being successively a lawyer, engineer, and financier. He was chairman of the board of directors of the British Overseas Airways Corporation, which suspended payment on Jan. 6.

LAKE RESORTERS FEAR FOX RIVER MAY RUIN HOMES

Summer residents of the northern Illinois lake district have become frightened. They are afraid that their ten lakes will be drained dry next summer by the Fox river, leaving the estimated 10,000 cottage owners with a view of scum and weeds instead of water.

The lakes involved are Catherine, Channel, Marie, Grass, Bluff, Fox, Nippersink, Petite, Long, and Pistakee. All drain into the Fox river and it flows into the Illinois at Ottawa. To retain their sports of sailing, fishing, and bathing several cottage owners revived an old association last night to put a permanent dam in the Fox river at Stickney Run, three miles south of McHenry. Fifteen years ago a dam was constructed there. It washed out and another was built and it is out of repair and likely to be washed away. The meeting was held at Hotel Sherman and more than 150 were subscribed and paid under the coaching of Sheriff Peters, who presided.

The officers of the association elected were A. V. Hanniffin, president; John A. McLean, vice president; Joseph G. Holly, treasurer, and C. K. Davis, secretary.

The association also discussed the formation of a drainage district. One speaker suggested that Fox river be made a really navigable stream and estimated the cost at $300,000.

If a drainage district is formed every property owner in the lake district, which is about fifteen miles long and seven miles wide, will be assessed for its maintenance.

Gov. Small was reported by Everett Hunter to be personally interested in the Fox lake district because Hunter said like conditions prevail in the Kankakee river, which flows through the governor's home town.

A. H. Stevinghaus, a cog in the city hall machine which is influential with the state administration, was a speaker at the meeting.

is now in progress and offers remarkable values in furs and millinery.

The complete approval accorded this sale, by the buying public, is a wonderful tribute to the confidence with which the women of Chicago accept this institution.

And at such a time as this, when sales of all kinds hold full sway, it is pleasant to know that a Shayne sale—like a Shayne garment—is to be relied upon.

Following are a few examples of the splendid values being offered:

An Interesting Glimpse of Spring Fashions in Charming New Hats at $12.50

As winter modes become a bit monotonous, these hats come with a forecast of the new in fashions in their every line, and with a promise of spring days ahead in their bright colors.

It is a rare skill which could gather into one collection such variety of delightful hats. And that one price, particularly such a moderate one, can prevail over an assortment so widely varied is of especial interest. In this group are

Hats of Faille, Taffeta and Satin
Hats of Novel, Colorful Braids
Hats of Straws Combined with Silks

For her who chooses the tailored hats, here are new versions of the sailor, its severity often relieved by gay-hued flowers.

Then there are turbans gracefully draped, and off-the-face hats of striking smartness. Shades of flame, copper, and henna continue in favor, as do the always-desired navy blue, brown and black.

The Hats Sketched Are Typical of the Many Delightful Hats to Be Chosen at This Low Pricing, $12.50.

Back of Chicago's "I Will"—Confidence

Chicago's "I Will" has resounded throughout the nation. Now is the time for that indomitable spirit to assert itself.

Now as never before does the nation look to its large cities for direction in industry—for a guiding thought to restore normal buying and put the industrial world back to full capacity production.

Chicago as a city recognizes no obstacles. Its great institutions are founded on faith. It has faith in the nation today. Faith founded on the greatest assets any nation ever possessed.

Cash reserves six times as great as the Bank of England. National wealth of 400 billions. Food enough to make up the entire world's deficiencies. Great quantities of raw materials and ample facilities for production.

Isn't this cause enough for optimism? Has any nation ever possessed a stronger setting for industrial supremacy?

As Chicago views this situation her "I Will" spirit is roused to action. Her example to the nation, her guiding thought, her solution lies in just one word closely linked with her "I Will" slogan.

Confidence is that word. Only through confidence can normal trade be resumed, stocks moved, factories opened and labor re-employed.

Mosinee Kraft

Confidence is the guiding thought in the mills, in the salesrooms—throughout the organization that makes and sells Mosinee Kraft wrapping paper.

That's why Mosinee delivers packages safely to all parts of the world today at minimum cost per yard.

Mosinee is dependable in quality. Always safe, averages a point per pound, guaranteed not to overrun its basis weight.

No need to buy excess weight for a safety margin. Every inch of Mosinee is safe. Lighter weights can be used. Mosinee gives more yards to the pound and the dollar.

Dependable, economical—the kind of product Chicago merchants and manufacturers can buy with confidence. Nothing to be gained by waiting. If you need wrapping paper buy now, with the "I Will" spirit backed by confidence.

LONGER PRISON TERMS FOR AUTO THEFTS ASKED

Crowe Orders Drafting of New Law.

State's Attorney Crowe yesterday instructed Special Prosecutor Stephen A. Malato to prepare a bill increasing the penalty for auto thefts, which is to be presented to the legislature for enactment into law. The present law provides an indeterminate sentence of from two to fifteen years. Mr. Malato's bill will make the punishment from three to twenty years.

Mr. Malato also announces that as long as he has charge of prosecutions in the new automobile court, which is to be presided over by Judge McDonald, all offenders will be tried by a jury. No plea of guilty to petit larceny will be accepted.

State's Attorney Crowe said that he is determined to make the city safe for automobiles and is not actuated by any petition in his move for heavier penalties.

CARDS FOR DRIVERS

Identification cards for motorists, to be known as "certificates of competency" will be ready for distribution within a week.

The identification system, proposed by Chief Fitzmorris as check on motor bands and automobile stealing, has been worked out by Maj. James Miles and Efficiency Engineer W. R. Matheny of the finance committee staff and approved by the committee which yesterday voted an appropriation of $20,000 to put the plan into effect.

Where to Get Cards.
On payment of $1 and presentation of two photographs of himself, the motorist will be able to obtain an identification card at one of the following police stations:

North Side—Traffic headquarters, Illinois street and Grand avenue and the Summerdale and Town Hall stations.

West Side—Shakespeare avenue station.

West Side—Warren avenue, Austin, and Fillmore stations.

South Side—Forty-eighth street and Wabash avenue, Englewood and South Chicago stations.

The photographs must be 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 inches, and if the motorist wishes separate certificates for the members of his family who may drive the car, their pictures must be presented in duplicate. Certificates issued to the car owner will be white; to relatives—wives, mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers, and children—colored.

The certificates will be of high grade bond paper, 4x4 1/2 inches, and if folded once will fit in a card case. They will be numbered serially with a letter added to the serial number in the cases of relatives.

Useful to Suburbanites.

Although suburban motorists cannot be compelled to take out cards, it is believed that the value of the certificate to automobile operators, both individually and collectively, will result in the issuance of many cards to suburban motorists, the staff's recommendation says.

For the police files 150,000 elaborate

FATHER BUYS MOONSHINE, BOY DRINKS, POISONED

"Come to 5742 South Irving avenue," an excited voice shouted into the ear of the desk sergeant at the Englewood station when he picked up the receiver of the telephone. "My boy is poisoned."

The ambulance was rushed to the address and Daniel McInerney Jr., 7 years old, was found writhing in pain on the floor, while over him bent his father, Daniel Sr. The boy was bundled up and taken to the Englewood hospital, while a policeman remained behind to make an investigation.

"He drank some of this," explained Daniel Sr., handing the officer a bottle, "and I had it," admitted Daniel.

"And where did you get it?" the officer wanted to know.

So Daniel admitted he made it, and now he is occupying a cell in the Englewood station. The boy's condition, according to hospital authorities, is serious.

$802,000 REFUSED FOR U. S. CAMPS.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Rejection of a bid of $802,000 for Camp Zachary Taylor, near Louisville, Ky., by Harris Brothers, a New York and Chicago salvage company, was announced today by the appraisal board appointed by Secretary Baker to determine value of various camp sites.

CAREW HITS BACK AT WIFE; GIVEN DIVORCE DECREE

Confronted with an order issued in the Court of Domestic Relations in Cincinnati Monday commanding him to pay $600 a month alimony to Mrs. Gladys Little Carew, his estranged wife, Robert W. Carew, reputed millionaire, turned the tables yesterday by obtaining a decree of divorce from Judge G. Fred Rush.

With his attorney W. F. Somers, and a friend, Thomas McWilliams, Carew appeared in court to testify that his wife had deserted him and refused to return.

"I lavished money on her, bought her everything she wanted and treated her as any gentleman would treat his wife," he told the jurist. "But she left my home on Sept. 15, 1915."

A tinge of mystery was given the divorce proceedings at night when a reporter called at Carew's residence, 4119 Grand boulevard.

"What do you want?" A feminine voice asked through the speaking tube. "Mr. Carew isn't in—no, wait a minute." The reporter next heard a thin, small voice inquire within. "Are you in or out?"

Then, "No, Mr. Carew isn't in. Good bye."

Mrs. Carew at her costly residence in Roshill, near Cincinnati, displayed a similar reticence. She refused to discuss the divorce suit.

WIFE'S SUIT ADDS TO TROUBLES OF "TROUBLES" AUTHOR

When George Albert Jessel, theatrical producer, was hard put to find a name for a vaudeville sketch, he decided to call it "George Jessel's Troubles."

A divorce bill filed in the Superior court yesterday made his choice seem peculiarly fitting.

He is named defendant in a bill filed by Mrs. Florence Courtney Jessel. An actress appearing in "The Troubles" is mentioned.

Mrs. Jessel appeared on the stage as "The Courtney Sisters." In her bill she says she was married to Jessel on Sept. 12, 1919, and that he has an income of $500 a week.

TWO HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.
Frank Douglas, 1033 South Seelye avenue, west side labor leader, and Joseph O'Malley, 625 South Chicago avenue, were held to the grand jury for manslaughter by a coroner's jury at an inquest yesterday into the death of Peter Genger of 3704 Archer avenue.

They were shot dead by one of three men who tacked him in his home on Christmas eve, Thomas Cooahan, whom Genger named as the man who fired the shot, was recommended held to the grand jury on a charge of murder. He has not been found.

MOTHER VISITS 'EDDIE' MORRIS IN JAIL HOSPITAL

Eddie Morris' best friend, his mother, visited him yesterday in the county jail hospital. She had not seen him for three years. Notified that her son had been shot and was being held for the murder of Policeman John Mullen, she journeyed here from St. Louis to visit him.

His trouble was not discussed. She went, but he seemed unaffected.

"I do not think Eddie could have the heart to kill any one," she told Assistant Jailer Lorenz Mollerstein. "No doubt he has been keeping bad company. They may be trying to shift the blame to him. If he should be proved guilty he ought to be punished, but to God, I hope they don't hang him."

Eddie's wife, Mrs. Essie Morris, and his sister, Mrs. Annie Schover, also were callers. On leaving they were taken into custody and questioned at the detective bureau. Mrs. Schover was then released.

Morris will be arraigned tomorrow. Judge McDonald will hold court at his bedside.

Counterfeiter Attacks "Pal" in Landis' Court

Angered because what he considered the treachery of a "pal" had resulted in Judge Landis sentencing him to a ten year term in Leavenworth penitentiary, Harry Sullivan, alias "Kelly," arrested several days ago on charges of raising $1 bank notes to twenties, attacked his codefendant, Harry Stone, in federal court yesterday.

Deputy marshals interfered and Sullivan was removed from the room. Stone was later sentenced to a five year term.

The Call of Economy

THE thrifty will do well to heed our January Sales, now offering Field Quality merchandise at figures lower than in many months. The days are flying. The best time to profit by economies is while stocks are complete and varieties all-embracing.

While January prolongs the special Sales, the freshness of Spring attends the arrival of new merchandise that heralds its coming. Many of the finer things for the vernal days are here already, betokening early preparation for the new season.

Three Piece Suits among the Newest Arrivals

SUITS, as always, will be worn a great deal this Spring, and those leaving for journeys South and to California will be interested in these unusual models to wear for traveling. Many are the original designs and unique trimmings of the new Suits, and the materials of which they are made are soft tricotines and pique twills. In the three piece Suits so much in favor, there are combinations of these materials with Canton crepe, crepe chiffon and crepe de Chine.

Two Are Sketched from This Collection

A jaunty short box coated model of navy pique twill, on the left, has narrow band trimming of gray duvety, while the exceedingly smart three piece Suit, on the right, is of navy tricotine, handsomely embroidered. The embroidered designs on the cape are most effective.

GERMANS ASK HARDING FOR CABINET SEAT

Brentano and Wacker "Suggested."

The German-American League of the United States, born yesterday at the final session of the German-American national conference, which had been in session since Sunday in the Lincoln club, outlined its policy during the day in resolutions that will be presented to President-elect Harding.

Viereck to "Suggest." Viereck denied a report that this committee would "present" names of "German-American citizens" to President-elect Harding, but said it would be prepared to "suggest" a few, if asked to do so.

The German-American Citizens' League of the United States was born at the German-American national conference, which yesterday concluded a three-day session at the Lincoln club, according to Viereck, the new organization will take in many German-American societies throughout the country and will seek to "arouse a daily sense of civic duty, fight propaganda of English origin, and bring about recognition of German-American citizens."

Names for Cabinet. Asked what names he might "suggest" to President-elect Harding, Viereck mentioned:

Charles Nagel, St. Louis, a member of President Taft's cabinet; Dr. Edmund Von Misch, New York; former Congressman Henry Volmer, Iowa; former Congressman Richard Bartholdt, Missouri; Frederick Lehmann, St. Louis; Judge Theodore Brentano, Chicago; Charles H. Wacker, Chicago; Dr. Otto Schmidt, Chicago; Carl E. Schmidt, Detroit; Howard Wurlitzer, Cincinnati; Henry G. Beyer, Portland, Me.; Richard Lieber, Indianapolis; Prof. John A. Waiz of Harvard university; Rudolph Pagenstecher, New York; and one of the Brumder brothers, publishers of the Milwaukee Herald.

Some of Resolutions. Parts of the resolutions, which are fourteen in number and were referred to as "the fourteen points," follow:

"We express our confidence and hope that Mr. Harding's administration will create and perpetuate an era of good feeling both at home and abroad."

"We trust that Americans of German descent will participate equally with their fellow citizens in the government of our country and that the President-elect will consider their number and their heroic services both before and during the war, when he chooses the members of his cabinet and when he appoints diplomatic representatives, postmasters, revenue, and other federal officials."

"We do not ask Mr. Harding to select a man for any political position because he is an American of German descent, but we ask him not to discriminate against any man for that reason."

"We hope that an immediate equitable peace can be effected between our country and Germany and Austria, and that the collaboration of President Wilson, were delivered over to foreign domination and bondage."

"We extend our sympathy to those of our race who, through the dictation of the allies and the collaboration of President Wilson, were delivered over to foreign domination and bondage."

PRUSSIAN VOTES MAY OUST RULE OF SOCIALISTS

BY GEORGE SELDES.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.
Berlin, Jan. 11.—The Prussian election campaign has begun. Eight parties are striving to win the party on the right being favored of gaining the government. At present is in the hands of the Socialists. The political beliefs of the various parties vary widely, from favoring the restoration of the monarchy to a proletarian dictatorship. The election, Feb. 20, is regarded as of utmost importance, as Prussia is the largest republic within the German empire and the result may influence the whole country's future. Although it is too early to predict the outcome, the best informed neutral observers profess a decided swing to the right or conservatism, with special chances for Socialists, centrist and democratic parties, which compose the center.

May Follow Saxony.

It is believed Prussia will follow Saxony footsteps. In Saxony the Socialists were beaten badly, while conservatives and communists both gained. Such a result in Prussia will be an abiding proof of the contention of neutral students of Germany's policy that the Socialist party's regime is a failure, that the party is breaking down, while both extremes on the right and left are gaining. The conservatives are supported by leading industrialists who are against the Socialists' socialization plans and by the entire monarchist following, which is disgusted with the week vacillating Socialist regime. The Communist party, on the other hand, proclaims Germany's revolution already a failure, and it is necessary to destroy the Socialist party's strength as well as that of reactionaries.

Have Definite Programs.

Both these extremist parties have definite programs, which they are loudly proclaiming, and their openness and directness in campaigning is gaining adherents. The Democratic party has almost no program, destructive or constructive, while the centrist appeals solely to elections. Prussia, however, is overwhelmingly Protestant. The People's party, sometimes called "Sinnlos" party, because the billion-aires are coal king, Sinnlos, is its greatest financial supporter, has a platform with planks against socialization of coal mines and against granting autonomy to provinces.

Opposed to Autonomy.

This is the first definite attack on the Socialists' program of granting autonomy, releasing states such as Bavaria from Prussian dictatorship and forming a United States of Germany, thereby ending present separatist tendencies, which is strongest in Bavaria.

The People's party, in session yesterday, issued an appeal to the electorate, denouncing the Social Democrats' policy, which "is weakening the authority of the law," and declaring small states are trying to destroy Prussia "with the Prussian mission still unfulfilled."

to replace the cereal you are accustomed to eating—then throw away your box of pills and bottle of laxative and forget that you were ever constipated.

Cereal Meal contains no drugs. It is a "physic" in no sense—just supplies some elements now missing in the food you are eating. Nature does the rest. It is these "missing elements" that cause constipation.

Cereal Meal brings normal, free, healthy movements like nature in-

BISHOP ISRAEL, EPISCOPALIAN, OF ERIE, PA., DIES

Erie, Pa., Jan. 11.—The Rt. Rev. Rogers Israel, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Erie, died today, a victim of shingles, an affection of the nerve system, which had confined him to his residence for a month. His heart became affected several days ago and all hope was abandoned.

Bishop Israel was the first head of the Episcopal diocese of Erie, being installed and ordained Nov. 16, 1910, the Erie diocese being formerly a part of the Pittsburgh district.

MUSCLE SHOALS PROJECT WINS IN SENATE BY 1 VOTE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(Special.)—The solid south, presenting a united front in the senate, won its fight over the much criticized Muscle Shoals nitrate project today.

By a vote of 23 to 22 the senate rejected a motion by Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, to recommit the bill creating a federal corporation to operate the plant in Alabama and granting it $12,500,000 capital to begin doing business. The motion furnished a test of strength and indicated that the measure probably will pass.

The southern Democrats, with the aid of Senators Johnson, California;

Gronna, North Dakota, and McNary, Oregon, Republicans, mustered a margin of one.

The bill was bitterly assailed by Senators Kenyon, Iowa; Smoot, Utah, and Wadsworth, New York.

"I look with suspicion on any bill that originates around Muscle Shoals," Mr. Kenyon said. "The proposition has been fraught with fraud and corruption ever since the initiation of the movement at Muscle Shoals. Any one who reads the Graham report will have to agree that for graft and fraud, Hog Island is a piker compared to Muscle Shoals. Here we are with this proposition and getting nothing. It is a shameful record."

The advocates of the bill have declared that it will enable the government to produce fertilizer at reduced cost to the farmers. Senator Kenyon declared the measure would prove "a gold brick to the farmers." Senator Smoot, Utah, agreed with him. He predicted the project would cost $169,000,000 before it was completed.

Senator Wadsworth estimated the government would have to operate the nitrate plants at a loss of $2,000,000 a year after they are completed.

GETS INTO JAIL FOR THE WINTER BY ROBBING MAIL

"Arrest me, officer, and send for the postal authorities. I just robbed the United States mails," said Frank Nichols, then saluted Policeman Frank Ward, displaying a small package he said he had taken from a mail box. But Nichols had taken the package from the top of the box, and that is not a federal offense, the federal authorities told the police.

Arraigned before Judge John R. Caverly in Desplaines street court yesterday, Nichols said he would be willing to go to the bridge, as he couldn't get into the Federal penitentiary for the winter.

"Anything to oblige," said the judge. "Six months."

SERGEANT FAILS TO RECEIVE GIFT AS BOYS PLANNED

So Money They Raised Goes Back to Them.

Generally when a man retires from public life he is the recipient of the hand, but when William J. Prindle, who served as police sergeant for thirty-one years of service his associates received the hand. Bill presented each of them with a $1 bill of their own money.

It's considerable of a mystery and was not solved until yesterday. It has to do with the peregrinations of fifty $1 bills, which represented a collection among the men of the Gresham police station last October, when Bill retired.

Transfer Order Halts Gift.

They intended buying him a watch. The money was placed in the station safe. The next day Chief Fitzmorris issued his sweeping transfer order. Bill didn't know of the collection until a week ago, when a friend asked him how he liked his watch. He telephoned Desk Sergeant O'Grady of the station. O'Grady said Lieut. Joseph M. Johnson had the money.

He telephoned Johnson, who is ill. "O, yes," said Johnson. "I found the money. The boys were going to make Nellie a little present." (Nellie is the police station scrubwoman.)

Then he invited Prindle to come out to his home and get the money. But Bill raised the point that the money wasn't his. They compromised by appointing a committee, which returned the money to the donors. "I would have appreciated a watch from the boys," said Bill yesterday, "but when I learned complications might ensue over the collection I concluded the best thing for all concerned was to give them back their money."

THE BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

"You know as well as I do," declared John Jay Abbott yesterday, "that the Chinese are well worth helping and well worth saving, and if one dollar can save the life of a Chinese who is sober, industrious, and who is filled with great admiration and respect for the United States, it looks to me like an awfully good investment."

Mr. Abbott, who is a vice president of the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank, is chairman of the Chicago committee of the China Famine fund, and also a member of the national executive committee of the fund, of which Thomas W. Lamont is chairman.

The first large response to President Wilson's proclamation on behalf of the starving Chinese came last week in the form of a check for $200,000 from Graham Patterson, publisher of the Christian Herald, and vice chairman of the national executive committee.

The check represented contributions from readers of the Christian Herald, who have already forwarded $55,000 to China through the American legation at Peking.

C. G. Dixon of 1721 West Austin avenue will share his civil war pension each month with an "invisible guest." He left $20 yesterday in the Hoover relief fund office.

Jerry Meyer went into the Hoover fund office yesterday and gave $5 for an "invisible guest." Jerry is a veteran of the great war. "I want to help those starving children, for I've been over there," he smiled.

The day's receipts at the Bank of Kindness comprised:

MRS. FRANZEN ASSUMES ROLE OF LOVE MARTYR

Wants Author to Be Happy with Family.

Mrs. Philip M. Franzen of Madison, Wis., "stolen bride" of Pierre Paul Authier, has left her husband for good, she declared last night. A settlement has been arranged between them, another set of "parting papers" has been signed, another check, this time for $400, has been given here, and she is now in Chicago. She still loves Authier, she says, despite his alleged renunciation of her and his return to his wife.

Would be Love Martyr. Instead of a second flight with her recent companion, however, Mrs. Franzen declares she has resigned herself to "martyrdom" for the sake of Authier's wife.

"I love Mr. Authier so much that I myself don't count," she exclaimed yesterday. "His contentment and his happiness must come first. And I think he will have contentment and happiness with his wife and baby. My husband will probably get a divorce shortly. I left him for good last night."

Spends Night in Racine. Mrs. Franzen came to Chicago yesterday from Racine, Wis., where she had spent the night at a hotel.

Why We Build Economically

Behind the Wieboldt organization is a great warehouse, repair shop, garages, and material yard, with a complete line of machinery, tools and repair parts. There is also a stock of such material as may be wanted on short notice.

We therefore supply the needs of our jobs very quickly, and eliminate the labor waste due to shortage of equipment when required.

WALLACE QUILTS ENVOYS' COUNCIL ON U. S. ADVICE

Armistice Work Ends, Ambassador Says.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—American participation in the important work of the council of ambassadors, which deals with questions arising out of the armistice, has been formally closed. This termination, which has been anticipated in official circles here since a new regime in Washington next March was assured, was brought about when Ambassador Wallace advised Premier Raymond last night that, in pursuance of instructions received from Washington, he would not take part in any further meetings of the council. Ambassador Wallace expressed his deep regret at the action of the United States, and this feeling is being generally echoed.

DOUGHBOYS UNAFFECTED

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) PARIS, Jan. 11.—Withdrawal by the United States from the ambassadors' council has no bearing upon the presence of American troops on the Rhine. Despite inspired articles in the French press expressing fear that the American doughboys will be recalled from Cologne as soon as Harding takes office, French official circles already have assumed that the new administration will not take hasty action upon any commitments made during the Wilson regime.

It is pointed out in the articles that all members of the Coblenz garrison are volunteers and that Germany is presently paying the entire cost. It is realized, however, that there will be a big outcry from Washington when it is revealed that the cost of the occupation never will be collectible from Germany. France, Belgium, Serbia, and Roumania, with preferential claims for reparations, insist that payment of indemnity shall be made before the military occupation of the Rhine is paid for.

WALLACE, SICK, TRIES TO END LIFE.
Robert Burns, 24 years old, 1904 West Adams street, an electrician, despondent because of ill health and lack of employment, attempted to end his life yesterday by drinking poison. He was found unconscious by his wife. Doctors say he will recover.

The National Poultry show will open this morning with turkeys on exhibition at the International Amphitheater, Union Stock yards. Thirty States and Canada are represented by 410 exhibitors, who have assembled $100,000 worth of feathered prize winners. A feature is the largest display of bantams ever staged in America, according to D. E. Hale, secretary. L. Black of Sandusky, O., has a string of birds valued at $3,500. Seventy-one bantams exhibited by Dr. Norman L. May, a physician of Pittsburgh, include some of the old English spaniel game, rare in this country.

The Japanese Silkies, bantams shown by R. E. Cushman, of Stirling, Ill., are expected to attract a deal of attention.

RAILROADS PLAN CHICAGO WARON WASTAGE LOSS

New York, Jan. 11.—(Special.)—Chicago is to be the headquarters of a national campaign against wastage in railroad freight shipments. The American Railway association has established in Chicago a permanent "cause and prevention bureau," with F. E. Winburn in charge.

The object is to reduce the railways' annual loss and damage bill. Last year this bill far exceeded the enormous 1919 figure of $104,000,000, or 28 per cent of the net freight revenue of American railways.

Railway men blame much of the damage and loss to shipments to haphazard packing. One railroad executive says he knows of one manufacturer who paid a freight bill of $294,000, and got back from the carriers $306,000 in loss and damage.

Railroad men insist the shippers should use heavier wrappers and cartage. The shippers say this would run up freight rates.

BUTTER MAKERS WANT TARIFF AGAINST DANES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Hearings by the senate finance committee on the Fordney emergency tariff bill, designed as a "relief to farmers," closed this evening.

The committee will consider the bill on Friday and prepare to report it to the senate. There it is now expected it will meet its doom either through an antagonistic vote or by being literally talked to death.

The chief witnesses today represented dairy interests and their main requests were for duties against a flood of Danish butter and against vegetable oils imported and used as a substitute for animal fat in imitation butters.

Walter Fitch, New York, asked a duty of 6 cents a pound on incoming butter, saying 23,000,000 pounds of imported butter reached the New York market in 1920, and that Jan. 7 one ship left Copenhagen with the largest cargo ever sent to this country—2,200,000 pounds.

Other witnesses were E. B. Lewis, National Dairy association; M. D. Munn, chairman National Dairy council; J. M. Hackney, president American Holstein-Friesian association, and John D. Nichols, Ohio Dairy Producers' association.

Their general testimony was that Danish butter can be landed in New York as cheaply as butter can be brought from the west. It was shown that butter importations were also coming from Holland, Canada, the Argentine, and New Zealand, and all competing disastrously in the American market.

Manufacturers of carbon products and plate glass appeared before the house ways and means committee. A. C. Morrison, New York City, representing the carbon industry, said the British nearly lost the battle of Jutland because the German searchlights had twice the range.

Automotive Advertising in Minneapolis

For eight years now, the Minneapolis dealers in automotive products have preferred to use The Journal. Their expressed preference for Journal space has averaged 22% more advertising for that period than they have placed in any other newspaper.

This preference has averaged more than 53,000 lines per year.

Last year's auto show edition of The Minneapolis Sunday Journal carried 111% more automotive advertising than the New York Times' edition, and 16% more than The Chicago Tribune's.

It led the second Minneapolis paper by 29,708 lines, or more than 26%.

Women's and Misses' Suits Give Charming Introduction to New Modes

Those of the newly launched fashions which have met with unquestioned approval are delightfully represented here.

It is of unusual interest that these suits are in the fabrics distinctive 1921—

Piquette, Twilluse, Covert Pique, Twill Cord

Colors, too, are unlike those of seasons past—wren, a new brown; pewter, a light gray; Condon, a light tan color, and Gibraltar, a lovely soft taupe.

Concerning the Suits Sketched, At $175 and $185

The woman's suit of twill cord takes an entirely new way of fastening and a new, unusually effective motif for its colorful embroidery. Sketched at right. $175.

The misses' three-piece suit at the left is "different" in a youthful way noted in the embroidery done in angora, silk and threads and steel beads, and the flaring coat. $185.

Fourth Floor, North and South.

Tub Blouses, Daintily Fine, Unusually Priced in the January Sale $5.75 and $8.50

An important feature of this sale is that it so successfully combines delightful choice with economy of a substantial sort.

For seldom are blouses as charming as these, and almost never, so low in pricing. Featured:

From France, Lovely Hand-made Blouses, $5.75

They have the unmistakable air of daintiness always so charming in French blouses. The tiny ruffles of fine net are lovely with the sheer batiste of this blouse. Sketched at the left. $5.75.

The Blouse Sketched at the Right Is of Fine Cross Bar Dimity, Priced $8.50.

Fourth Floor, North.

Concerning Separate Skirts In Smart Versions of New Fashions

The skill of this section in giving prevailing fashions a touch of the out-of-the-usual is delightfully proved by the interesting variety of skirt modes presented here now.

Notable among the recent arrivals are Skirts of Gabardine in Striking New Plaids, $25

Brown and white, and black and white, so plaided as to give the effect of a wide and narrow stripe, make this a separate skirt of uncommon distinction. Sketched at right.

Separate Skirts, Cleverly Plaited, Priced $30 Of Prunella Cloth, Expertly Tailored

A soft shade of tan and a bright new blue are delightfully combined in this skirt. The box pleats are in differing widths. Sketched at the left.

COPS FLEE WHEN WIFE OF U. S. AGENT ARMS HIM

Midnight "Visit" to Flat
Causes Inquiry.

Sometimes police records are laconic and uninteresting—burial plots for the thrills. Witness the notation on a card at the Stanton avenue station: "At 3 o'clock Monday morning the patrol was sent to a restaurant in thirty-fifth street, between Indiana and Michigan avenues. Two plain clothes men were brought back. They were not held."

Behind this simple record is the story of an uninvited visit to a flat at 3510 Michigan avenue by a pouncing on a man and threats to "shoot him in the door," the appearance of a woman with a revolver in one hand and a Colt's automatic in the other, all runplay by the police at Michigan avenue and thirty-fifth street.

Woman Tells Story.

The story was told last night by Mrs. Beverly Stevens, wife of Ernest Stevens, one of prohibition agent Richard Stevens' assistants. She and her husband live at the Michigan avenue address with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Banks.

"About 2:45 o'clock my husband and I were awakened by a pouncing on the door," she said. My husband asked "Who's there?" The reply was "Police officers; let us in." My husband opened the door and a foot was placed in the entry. The two men then tried to rush open the door.

Brings Two Weapons.

"When I saw that Ernest, my husband, was having a hard time—the men outside were threatening to shoot the door down—I got out my automatic and revolver and carried them into the room."

"Who's that woman?" one of the men asked. My husband explained and they went down to the door. Ernest opened the door and the two men came in. The men became abusive and I showed the weapons into Ernest's hands.

One Fires Into Air.

"Finally Mr. and Mrs. Banks came to the door, the men, seeing the weapons, left. Ernest followed the two men to a restaurant. Then he called the Stanton avenue police and the men were taken to the station."

Stevens said he asked that they be held. Lieut. Ben Enright, who came on duty later, heard of the affair and made a report to Chief Fitzmorris. He gave the names of the two men as John J. O'Hara and Charles Quinn.

Off Duty at Time.

At the Harrison street station it was learned that O'Hara and Quinn worked at 6 p. m. to 2 a. m. They travel a lot.

Mrs. Stevens, who until recently was Miss Beverly Montrose, gained some publicity in December of 1919, when a young man acquaintance vanished with a $1,000 gem at the Congress after introducing her to the victim as "my wife."

COP CALLED ROBBER

Patrolman Edward J. Clohesy turned up a man and showed his gun into the ribs of Martin Farthing of 3136 South Park avenue on the morning of Jan. 11, according to charges filed against the patrolman yesterday.

"Was on my way to work at Hamilton, Ind., when Clohesy stopped me," he told the chief.

"I told him I only had lunch money and he reached into my pocket. Then I grabbed his gun, and we struggled and fell."

Two uniformed patrolmen appeared and arrested Farthing.

Indiana Financier Seeks New Markets in Europe

Col. Walter J. Riley of Gary, president of four banks in East Chicago and two in Indiana Harbor, who is heavily interested in manufacturing and industrial projects in Indiana, leaves this morning for Europe, where he will study economic conditions with a view to enlarging world markets of his concerns.

Stays Two Hours in Icebox in Which Robbers Put Him

Oscar Ryessky, owner of a butcher shop and grocery at 1818 North Wells street, remained in the icebox of his store, in which he had been imprisoned by two bandits, who entered the store and robbed him of $140, for two hours last night before he was liberated by Policeman Adolph Phillips of the North Halsted street station.

THE CLOCK struck four. His friend had gone in the night. But Marjorie waited to tell him that she was ready to break the family precedent.

FREE DRY AGENT ON ATTEMPTED ROBBERY CHARGE

Harry J. Bittings, assistant supervisor of revenue collectors in the Chicago district, yesterday was acquitted in the Stockyards police court of charges of attempted robbery, made by a wholesale liquor dealer.

Following the acquittal, Assistant District Attorney James R. Glass declared Attorney General Palmer had ordered an investigation to determine whether the case against the revenue man was a frame-up.

Bittings was arrested several weeks ago after Mrs. Anna Sobrya of 4441 Marshfield avenue had complained to the police that the revenue agent had attempted to steal three barrels of liquor stored in her residence. Three witnesses were produced yesterday by A. P. Madden, chief of the special intelligence section of the internal revenue department, who testified that Bittings could not have been at the Sobrya home when the robbery was attempted.

LANDLORD FOUND DAZED; TENANTS 'DON'T KNOW HIM'

Samuel Kerchenblatt, owner of a six flat building at 1228 North Maplewood avenue, yesterday was found dazed, wandering about with his cellar. He was muttering to himself, the police assert, and acting strangely. Tenants professed not to know the man, and for some time he was unidentified. The police took him to the Psychopathic hospital. They are puzzled because of the apparent indifference of the tenants and their profession of ignorance concerning the identity of the man to whom they should have paid their rents.

Sudden Cold Wave Comes at Close of an Ideal Day

Gosh, and it was such a dard of a day yesterday! The thermometer read 36 degrees at 8 p. m. About 10:30 p. m. the mercury was at 22 above zero and going down. The cold wave came unheralded. The weather man predicted a rising temperature tomorrow.

R-R-R-EVENGE!

A life that spanned more than a century was ended Monday night when John Dionysius died at Wilmette. He was 110 years old.

Dionysius lived for years in a little hut on the western boundary of Wilmette, near Gross Point. With his 67 year old bachelor son, Nick, he has lived apart from men and cities. Unable to speak English and never using the convenience of modern life, he spent his time pottering about in a little garden.

When he celebrated an uncertain birthday last year Dionysius attributed his long life to drinking plenty of beer. At that time he said that he would probably die if beer, which had been his sole beverage for most of his life, was taken from him.

Samaritan to an Indian Says Husband Choked Her

Mrs. Little Chief, whose Pottawatamie husband is an acrobat, has been ill for some days at her apartment at 676 North Dearborn street. Mrs. Maud Beyer, another tenant, essayed the role of good samaritan until last night, when she was taken to the county hospital unconscious. When she regained consciousness, she said her husband, Peter, choked her because she insisted upon being kind to Mrs. Little Chief. Mr. Beyer is in a cell at East Chicago station.

SUSPENDED COP RECAPTURES MAN WHO ESCAPED HIM

Trails Alleged 'Fence' by

Edmund Halpin probably retrieved his job as a detective sergeant last night when he recaptured James Probasco, a saloonkeeper and alleged "fence," in a raid on the apartment of Mrs. Josephine Wheeler at 3728 Rokeby street.

Probasco was arrested in his saloon at 2701 North Halsted street, last Thursday by Detective Sergeants Killen, Dunne, and Faldina. About $10,000 worth of loot stolen from the home of James W. Thorne in Lake Forest on Dec. 24 was found in his flat. The police also seized a quantity of "moonshine" wines and whisky.

Prisoner Walks Out.

Probasco was locked up at the detective bureau, at that time filled with Negro suspects. Halpin, acting as lookout during the brief absence of the regular custodian of the keys, granted Probasco's plea that he be allowed the run of the corridor.

The detective sergeant was called to the telephone and left the keys on the desk. During his absence a patrolman arrived with a prisoner. Probasco unlocked the door for him. After the patrolman had left, Probasco unlocked the door and walked out.

The next day Halpin was suspended by Chief Fitzmorris. Since then he had used every moment of his enforced absence from duty in trailing Probasco. Yesterday he found Mrs. Wheeler's photograph in Probasco's flat and succeeded in identifying her. The raid on her apartment followed.

Has Record, Police Say.

Henrietta Novak, 23 years old, also was found in the flat. Both women were taken to the detention home and Probasco again was locked up at the bureau. He was taken to the bureau of identification, where it was learned he has a police record.

Among the loot taken from the Thorne summer home found in his flat was a $4,000 rug, 32 feet long and 30 feet wide.

VOTE TO INCREASE STREET CLEANING FUND $1,588,000

The council finance committee last night approved the budget item increasing the appropriation for garbage and ash removal and street cleaning from $4,713,000 to $6,301,000.

Ald. Ross A. Woodhull advocated approval of an appropriation of $270,000 to purchase a street flusher for each ward. This item, however, was cut to $50,000.

The question of the appropriation for street cleaning expenses of this month was referred to the staff.

HUNDREDS SEE MOVIE HOLDUP AND PISTOLDUEL

While hundreds of persons passed the entrance and a dozen more were waiting in the lobby of the Froile Moving Picture theater at 261 East Garfield boulevard last night about 8 o'clock, a robber walked up to the ticket booth, shoved a revolver through an opening, and ordered the cashier to "pass out the money."

Miss Mary Payne, 404 East Forty-second street, the cashier, seeking to gain time, handed him two tickets. "Gimme the dough," ordered the bandit.

Miss Payne began to scream. The bandit reached toward her, the wicket grabbed up several rolls of small change amounting to $30, and fled to the curb, where two companions were waiting in an automobile, a new car with a 1921 license.

Some one had phoned the police and three detectives arrived and opened fire on the robbers. The latter returned the fire and the crowd scattered. The bandits escaped.

Miss Payne's resistance saved her employers $500.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE'S account of the holdup of Lawrence Larson and Miss Judith Anderson, printed Jan. 9, said they were returning from a movie. It also said Miss Anderson fainted. Mr. Larson writes that while it may not seem of importance, he wishes to have it known that they were returning from a drug store, not a movie, and that Miss Anderson did not faint.

The announcement of the opening of the Medill School of Journalism referred to it as the only metropolitan newspaper training institution west of the Alleghenies. A representative of the Marquette university school of journalism protests that that institution, with ten years of successful experience, and located in a city of a half a million, is thoroughly modern and metropolitan.

On Saturday THE TRIBUNE, in a story concerning Eddie Morris, the bandit, said Mrs. Holden K. Welch had attempted to call Main 13 (the emergency police call) on the telephone, and the operator had informed her it would be necessary to drop a nickel. An investigation showed Mrs. Welch called Hyde Park 141, the Hyde Park police station phone, and was told she must drop a nickel. The delay occurred because the telephone operator did not recognize the number as that of a police station.

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB

HOW many women in Chicago have threaded a needle 255,000 times?

Mrs. Ollie O'Connor of 4417 Prairie avenue, who has been employed in the tailor shop at The Hub, altering suits for customers, for the last seven years, has performed the task that number of times, or more.

"Sometimes I thread the needle on my machine 100 times a day," she said. "I average at least fifty threadings a day. It all depends on the quality of the thread. Some thread breaks more easily than other kinds."

Taking Mrs. O'Connor's figure—fifty threadings a day—for seventeen years, and averaging 300 working days a year, she has threaded 255,000 needles since she took the job.

She averages six alterations a day, or a total for the seventeen years of 30,000 suits, enough to clothe ten infantry regiments. To make these alterations she used approximately 10,000 spools of thread. Averaging these at 500 yards to the spool, she has used more than 2,500 miles of thread.

BODIES OF THORNE AND LEITER SENT TO THEIR HOMES

The body of Raymond C. Thorne, millionaire Chicago clubman, who was killed in Los Angeles Monday when the automobile he was driving skidded and overturned on a wet pavement, will probably arrive here tomorrow night or Friday morning for burial. According to William C. Camp, Thorne's stepfather, the body left for Chicago yesterday.

The body of Joseph Leiter Jr., the 10 year old son of Joseph Leiter of Chicago and heir to an estate of several million dollars, has been shipped from New Orleans to Washington, D. C., where it will be buried. Young Leiter was killed Monday when a shotgun accidentally exploded while he was duck hunting on his father's estate in Louisiana.

Although Coroner Williams of Los Angeles declared there was no doubt that Mr. Thorne's death was accidental, and that no inquest would be held, Los Angeles detectives are still investigating the fatality.

WOMAN KILLED ON R. R. TRACKS.

Miss Julia White, 35 years old, 7925 Parnell avenue, was killed instantly yesterday when she was struck by an Erie railroad train. Police said she was walking on the tracks between West Seventy-ninth and West Eightieth streets.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.

Do you find restaurant and hotel food as good today as five years ago?

Where Asked.

On Washington street, between Clark and La Salle streets.

The Answers.

Frank C. Perkins, 4153 North Ashland avenue, clerk—I have not been able to find a hotel or restaurant where the food of service is as good as it was five years ago. It is difficult to find a good place to eat. I have my nose all flattened looking in bakery windows.

Miss Anna Blase, 5669 Forest Glen avenue, stenographer—I see no difference in the quality of the food of today and that of five years ago, but there is a difference in the quantity. A person has to spend most of a week's salary to get a square meal in the loop. The service is rotten, too.

Grover C. Dullard, 5401 Quincy street, engineer—The food is about the same, but the portions are much less and the price is much more. The service is punk, too. Every place you go you get the standard menu that every restaurant in the loop serves, and get insolence from the waiters.

Miss Marie Healy, 2809 Archer avenue, stenographer—I do not find that there is much difference. Of course, the price is a trifle more and the service is poorer, but what can you expect in these days of high salaries? The food is just about as good, only there is less of it.

Samuel Greenberg, 1642 South Hamilton avenue, clerk—The service and the food in the loop are nothing compared with what they were five years ago. One used to get a real meal for 50 cents. Now they charge you $1 for the same thing. I always eat outside the loop.

POLITE MARSHAL FOR UNCLE SAM ENRICHED $50

Shows an Innocent How to Unravel Red Tape.

For the last two days the politeness reporter has sought to give some woman the $50 courtesy prize, but each time a male of the species has interposed himself and grabbed the money. Yesterday's winner was John Anderson—the kind Bobby Burns wrote about before he took up cigar making.

For the sum of $125.66, including special emoluments, Mr. Anderson works an entire month as a deputy United States marshal, thereby making himself almost as opulent as a postal clerk. The $50, it is alleged, will help a bit in the supporting of John's family.

To him the reporter came after a lengthy sojourn in the office of the federal procurator general. There a brunette stenographer had eventually raised her head to ask:

"What do you want?"

Shuffled Along.

The politeness seeker desired some information concerning one John Spargo, his mythical brother-in-law, who was reputed to be in duration more or less vile.

"This lady will take care of you," announced the typewriter chauffeur. It was some time before the caretaking occurred, however, due to the arrival of certain men who did not feel obliged to wait their turn. Then the reporter was told, in an offhanded way, to seek the marshal's office.

"Something you want?"

Though the scribe was waiting patiently beside another person's desk,

U. S. Deputy Marshal John Anderson

(Tribune Photo.)

John Anderson had come over to offer his services. "Here's a fellow named Shapiro," he added, eager to accommodate the stranger with a prisoner of some sort or other. The politeness seeker shook his head.

"Where else can I look?"

"You'd better try over at the prohibition headquarters. He may not have been brought over here yet." He gave directions for finding the dry headquarters and explained the intricacies of arraignment.

"By the way," he added, "have you made any arrangements about bail?"

"No."

"Well, I'd suggest you do that right away. Then, as soon as your brother-in-law is arraigned before the commissioner, you can be ready to release him."

More Questions.

Enlightenment about bailing followed, after which the reported vanished. Within a few minutes he was back with a fresh batch of questions. Would John Spargo be likely to receive a heavy sentence?

"He was caught buying a pint of whisky," explained the scribe.

"First offense?" Well, that isn't so bad. A small fine is about all he'll draw," said John.

"But," argued the reporter, "he may be brought before this Landis fellow and then he'll get sent to prison sure."

At Dry Headquarters.

The deputy marshal smiled reassuringly and shook his head. Greatly relieved, the politeness seeker walked down to the Transportation building, where the prohibition offices are located.

"Who did this man Spargo live?" inquired a white haired federal man when, a few minutes later, the pleasant stenographer in the outer office had ventured among much confiscated booze with the scribe's request. Street and number were given.

"I don't know anything about him," he announced, walking away. The reporter's face brightened.

"You know for sure, then, that he wasn't arrested?"

"No," snapped the prohibition man. "He might have given another name—probably John Smith."

"Well, can I look over last night's prisoners and see if he's among them? He couldn't have changed his looks, too."

Slightly exasperated, the federal man directed the politeness seeker back to the federal building.

Politeness His Habit.

"Politeness is my daily habit," quoth he when presented with the $50 card. "Public officers, especially, should be courteous. When a person is grouchy he can't give people satisfaction, and he doesn't feel satisfied himself."

NEW SKATERS IN SILVER SKATES DERBY FOR GIRLS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

That Miss Rose Johnson of the Illinois A. C., international women's skating champion, and Miss Emerald Dunlap of the Alverno A. A., runner-up to the tri-color club star, will have to look to their laurels when they take to the ice in the silver skates derby, which is held at Humboldt park on Jan. 30. It is shown by the many entries being received for the girls' derby.

While many of the contestants have had little experience in racing, they believe they will have a chance to win a pair of skates because of accidents which may "overtake" the stars. In girls' races held in past winters it was not always the fastest skater who won, and such may be the case this season.

Rogers Park Star Entries.

Among the list of entries received yesterday for the girls' race was that of Miss Marie Seery of the Rogers Park Skating club. Miss Seery skated in last year's races with success, and should be a factor in the silver skates race.

Miss Grace McKellin of Delano playground, another skater of ability, sent in her entry, as did several others.

If enough nominations are received this year to warrant dividing the event into two divisions, this will be done in order to give the smaller and younger girls a chance to win one of the handsome prizes.

Michigan Skater on List.

The most prominent entry received for the men's senior silver skates derby was that of Harry Stack of Dowagiac, Mich. Stack is 41 years of age, but in a letter accompanying his entry, asserted he is still young enough to make a strong bid for one of the prizes.

All indications point to more entries being received for the junior silver skates derby, open to all boys under 15 years of age, than either of the other two. The kids showed a keener interest in the race last year than the big fellows, and such is expected to be the case this year.

While most entries on hand have been received from skaters with no club affiliations, officials of the large skating organizations are urged to send in club nominations as soon as possible. Entries close on Jan. 24, and no skaters will be allowed to race unless they have entered through the proper channels.

MAROON TANKERS HOLD MEET WITH ALUMNI TONIGHT

University of Chicago swimmers will test their point scoring power tonight against an alumni team which includes a roster of performers now with the big athletic clubs.

The meet will be a duplex affair, Coach "Doc" White's second aggregate opposing the freshman tankers. The alumni will have the following ex-conference and athletic club stars: Walter Earle, Ed O'Connor, Rowen Crawford, Charlie Pavlick, Hank Rubinkam, Walter Bowers, Ray White, Craig Redmon, and Bill Shirley.

Purple and Chicago A. A. in Swimming Meet Tonight

Swimming teams representing Northwestern University and Chicago A. A. will meet in a dual meet in the Cherry Circle pool tonight. C. A. A. natators won the first meet between the two organizations and Coach Hazelhurst's swimmers hope to repeat tonight. The first event will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Four 3 Cushion Games in Chicago Cue League

Four Chicago Billiard league three cushion games were played last night. Bert Tredick (50) beating Ernie Lundgren (45), 50 to 41, in 77 innings at McGarry's. Each had a high run of three. At the Casino, Charlie Dougherty (44) beat Charles Le Gros (50), 44 to 37, in 75 innings. Both players had high runs of four. At Schaefer's Leonard Henney (50) defeated Jess Jacobs (42), 50 to 39, in 75 innings. Kenney had high run of five. Joe Capron (52) beat Sam Walker (42), 52 to 30, in 32 innings at Leffingwell's Evanston rooms. Capron ran six for high run.

Hockey League to Play First Games Saturday

The opening games of the Chicago Hockey association, scheduled for last week and which were postponed owing to lack of ice, will be played next Saturday and Sunday afternoons, weather permitting, as follows:

Saturday—Illinois Athletic Club at Rindale, Hoyt C. Leach, referee. Canadian club at Rogers Park Skating Club, Joseph P. Power, referee.

Sunday—Edgewater Beach hotel at Chicago Beach hotel, R. E. McPherson, referee.

The games will start at 2 o'clock.

Chicago A. A. Track Team Out of Illinois A. C. Meet

Announcement was made yesterday by S. H. Darwent, physical director of the C. A. A., that the Cherry Circle club will not be represented in the fourth annual indoor handicap track and field meet of the Illinois A. C. to be held at the Broadway armory on Jan. 28. Director Darwent said his athletes have not been in training long enough to warrant successful showings in a handicap meet held so early in the indoor season.

NOTES OF CUE ROOMS.

Marcus Catton won both afternoon and evening games from Dave McAndrews in dual series at Mueser's, finishing 308 to 300 in the afternoon and 308 to 120 in the evening encounter. In the afternoon, Catton's high run was 62 while 61 was his best effort in the evening bout. The late new standee, Catton, 1,500; McAndrews, 1,050. In an all-time high ball game, Catton, 45 to 41, in a three cushion match in the tournament at Benoit's, Moore street rooms last night. Both were handicapped at 45. Huber plays Benoit tonight.

At New York—Mickey Brown beat Irving Jango (15); Willie Kohler beat Duke Brandt (12).

At Boston—Eddie Shevlin beat Johnny Girth (10).

At Cincinnati—Tommy Gibbons beat Chuck Wiggins (10).

At St. Louis—Bob Roper beat Homer Smith (18).

At Philadelphia—Gus Francette drew with Philadelphia Joe Walker (18); Jerry Hayes beat Charles Hertz (18).

BY RAY PEARSON.

Those interested in the passage of a bill to make boxing legal in Illinois are exerting all efforts to produce a draft which will require no amending action.

That is made apparent by conversation with several men who at present are studying the laws of other states with a view of profiting by their mistakes in turning out a bill which will guarantee clean sport.

Along these lines, there is a point which commands attention and concerns the smaller cities of the state. There are any number of the smaller cities which may or may not want boxing.

Not Foisted on Any Towns.

If they want the game, all well and good; but if they do not, what is going to be done to protect the citizens of a municipality which does not favor it?

The answer to this question is made by a Chicago alderman who is working diligently for the passage of a bill. He says:

"Place a clause in the bill making it optional with every city to accept or decline the sport, as the individual town sees fit, and above all things, make it unlawful for any promoter who is not a resident of a city to hold a bout in that city."

Against Gumshoe Promoters.

"It is really necessary that this be done, in order to keep fly-by-night promoters from invading some city in which they are not residents and staging shows simply for the money they can get out of it. If that is done, the smaller cities can have boxing or not to suit themselves."

Placing these clauses in the measure seems a good idea.

KEARNS, DEMPSEY'S MANAGER, PINCHED DURING CAFE BRAWL

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Following an alleged attack on a waiter in a Hollywood restaurant and a fight with two policemen, Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, Joe Benjamin, a lightweight boxer, and Ted Hayes, confidential secretary of Dempsey, were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace.

Kearns furnished bail for himself and his companions. The three were scheduled to appear in police court tomorrow.

The police reports state the three men entered the cafe and went to a booth. They were asked by the waiter, it is said, to move to another booth. One of the men, it is alleged, struck the waiter with an overcoat. The officers entered and attempted to quiet the men. Elmer Hayes or Benjamin, the report states, leaped on one of the policemen as he was bending over.

Age Limit for Judges.

Included in the recommendations was that judges more than 50 years old must be excluded. Another suggestion limited the number of seconds to four. Still another suggestion eliminated the waving of towels in the ring. The gong must be eighteen inches in diameter and guaranteed to sound efficiently to enable the boxers and handlers to hear it.

Conduct Sport for Public.

It was further recommended that the new organization promote the conduct of boxing in the interest of the public welfare, and to formulate rules and regulations which shall be standard and adaptable in every state in which legal or public sanction has been given to professional boxing.

Conduct Sport for Public.

On the second proposition the judges stood to govern not only the conduct of contestants in and out of the ring, but the measures which should be taken for the protection and comfort of the public.

Conduct Sport for Public.

The recommendation also urged that rightful relations be established between those commercially concerned in the sport and this body and other recognized authorities, and to prescribe and limit admission fees and purses.

Still another suggestion eliminated the waving of towels in the ring. The gong must be eighteen inches in diameter and guaranteed to sound efficiently to enable the boxers and handlers to hear it.

Conduct Sport for Public.

It was further recommended that the new organization promote the conduct of boxing in the interest of the public welfare, and to formulate rules and regulations which shall be standard and adaptable in every state in which legal or public sanction has been given to professional boxing.

Conduct Sport for Public.

On the second proposition the judges stood to govern not only the conduct of contestants in and out of the ring, but the measures which should be taken for the protection and comfort of the public.

Conduct Sport for Public.

The recommendation also urged that rightful relations be established between those commercially concerned in the sport and this body and other recognized authorities, and to prescribe and limit admission fees and purses.

FARM and GARDEN

SOY BEANS are now coming off to the market and as there is an apparent shortage of good seed well adapted to the northern states farmers are urged to secure their seed early. The crop of soy beans is usually stored in the fall and thrashed during the winter and in most communities these beans are now available.

Farmers in Illinois and Indiana are usually able to get their seed for spring sowing from their neighbors, but in Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin, seedlings say there is an ample supply of Iowa, San, Holly Brook, and Early Brown.

The Manchou and Black Eyebrow are two kinds of soy beans that are well adapted to the northern states, but the seed is scarce.

The Mongrol, Medium Yellow, and Medium Green are the ones to plant where the beans are to be made into silage.

CHALMERS AND MAXWELL FIRMS EFFECT MERGER

BY O. A. MATHER.

Formal announcement of the reorganization and consolidation of the Maxwell Motor company and the Chalmers Motor corporation was made yesterday by the managing and reorganizing committee. The plan for the merger and exchange of securities, together with the rights to purchase securities of the new corporation, was declared operative. More than 87 per cent of the outstanding shares of the two companies and substantially all creditors' claims assented to the plan. The time under which deposits of stock and unsecured notes and claims can be made without penalty has been extended to Feb. 1. Initial payments on subscription to new stock in excess of minimum rights of purchase for the initial payment of $10 on each share of Class A stock applied for has been extended to Feb. 5.

See Profitable Operation.
"The organized company may be regarded as being upon a sound basis for profitable operation on the basis of reorganization of the new corporation, was declared operative. More than 87 per cent of the outstanding shares of the two companies and substantially all creditors' claims assented to the plan. The time under which deposits of stock and unsecured notes and claims can be made without penalty has been extended to Feb. 1. Initial payments on subscription to new stock in excess of minimum rights of purchase for the initial payment of $10 on each share of Class A stock applied for has been extended to Feb. 5."

Inventories have been substantially written down, so that the reorganized company will not be handicapped by having to take into 1921 operation losses chargeable to previous years.
"An analysis of the balance sheet, after excluding good will and allowing for the depreciation of assets, which are preference shares, shows a book value for the 'B' stock of about $10 a share. Sales prospects are now considered to be as good as those of any company in the industry."

Rail Loans Drain Fund.
Loans to the railroads, already made or pending, have practically exhausted the $250,000 fund established for the transportation act, according to an announcement by the Interstate Commerce commission yesterday. Advances totaling more than $200,000 were made to the railroads last year, while loans aggregating $1,652,584 may be made on pending applications. This would leave only $25,000 in the fund available for additional loans, as about $140,000 has been set aside to meet any damages against the roads which may result from suits pending and instituted during the period of federal control. Of the advances last year, $187,750 was to meet indebtedness; $1,285,670 for the purchase of new equipment; $17,291,294 for betterment of way structures, and $18,476,414 for freight train equipment.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company, which has been in the hands of receivers since Jan. 21, 1912, was sold to Danville, Ill., yesterday. The sale was made by the Interstate Commerce commission to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company, a new corporation organized Dec. 14 for the express purpose of buying the road and effecting a reorganization. The new company already had made application with the Interstate Commerce commission to borrow $100,000 to finance the road.

Railroads Plan to Sell Stock to Their Employees

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—It became known today that the railroads of the United States have been considering offering stock to employees. The plan has been before the Association of Railway Executives and was discussed at length at the annual meeting of the Association of Railway Executives, held at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City. The plan was outlined by the plan under which Lehigh employees may subscribe to stock on the installment plan.

RAILROAD NOTES

A loan of $500,000 to the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad, to aid in meeting its operating expenses, was approved yesterday by the Interstate Commerce commission. The loan is to be repaid by the railroad in three annual installments of $166,666.67 each, beginning on Jan. 1, 1922.

The domain has received applications from the Nashville Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad for the first seven days of the year, for a right-of-way for a new line from Nashville to Chattanooga, Tenn., and from Chattanooga to St. Louis, Mo.

The Atlantic, Pacific and Santa Fe railroad, which is operating the first seven days of the year, reported that it had received $20,000 during the same period a year ago.

Officials of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad have asked the Interstate Commerce commission to order the railroad to raise rates for intrastate traffic from 2 to 3 cents a mile and from 2.7 to 3 cents for interstate business.

The convention excursion rate for the present season will be one and one-half times the base rate, according to officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Last year the rate was a fare and a third.

DRY GOODS MARKETS.
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Cotton goods were active in the dry goods market today. Cotton yarn moved up at prices close to replacement. Revisions in wool grades were reported to be drastic and lead to more active business.

Los Angeles, California.
5 1/2 Per Cent School District Bonds. Dated November 1, 1920. Denomination $1,000. Principal and semi-annual interest (May and Nov. 1) Payable at the Treasury of the County of Los Angeles, California, or at the office of the Treasurer of the County of Los Angeles, California.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT.
Assessed Valuation, 1920.....$677,037.72

The City of Portsmouth and Norfolk County each own a one-half interest in the Norfolk County Ferries, a conservative value of which is $2,000,000. These ferries are operated by the Housing Corporation, a subsidiary of the United States Government, and the City and County each receive $67,200 annually from their interest in the utility. Deducting $1,000,000 (Portsmouth interest in the utility, which is self-supporting), the net bonded debt would be $1,932,100, which represents the net amount of bonded debt dependent upon taxes.

Portsmouth is the county seat of Norfolk County and is located in the southwestern part of the state. Together with Norfolk and Newport News it has the advantages of the excellent harbor facilities of Hampton Roads. Because of its location on a fine deep water harbor it is a central shipping point as well as an important railroad center, being served by the Atlantic Coast Line, the Chesapeake and Ohio, Seaboard Air Line, the Norfolk and Western and the Norfolk and Southern Railroads.

These bonds are a direct and general obligation of the City of Portsmouth and are issued for school, fire and street improvement purposes.
